133 KNOWN DEAD IN 3-STATE TORNADO

The War Today . . .

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

HITLER, awakened from the last of his great dreams, must wish he could have remained asleep.

The new Russian offensive marks the end of his last hope for divisions among the Allies which would prevent their full military cooperation. That the drive had been fully expected detracts little.

The two great jaws of the vice in which Der Feuhrer now finds himself cannot but remind us of the situation just four years ago, when France had fallen in one of history's greatest military debacles.

Hitler stood on the shores of the English channel. He assembled an invasion fleet, suffered tremendous losses before he could get it under way and, overconfident in his land army, decided to take another tack.

HE would secure his flanks in southeastern Europe and whip Russia. Then, with no threat at his back, he would be able to mass everything against Britain.

Right then and there he opened the two-front war which was to prove his downfall. In the sight of Moscow, in the fall of 1941, his legions faltered and the war was decided.

Later, when he entered Stalingrad, there was no Allied fear of the ultimate outcome. The Russians had shown what they could do.

Today two great screws are pinning Hitler to the pillory. Not even he can feel the slightest hope of escape. It's merely a question of how many Germans he and his high command are willing to see killed before the end; of how many Germans are willing to be killed.

EVEN the possibility that Hitler can retire to his inner fortress for any extended defense of Germany seems remote now.

Hitler still has some good fighting men, but the varied types of prisoners taken by the Allies indicate that his army is shot through with weakness.

Even good men only can die when flanked by malcontents, either disaffected Germans or sullen conscripts from occupied territory.

And such sweet justice it will be if we come to see the great German army sliced into befuddled chunks, fleeing through the fields of France and Poland as they caused their victims to flee in 1940.

FIRST 'D-DAY' LOSSES REPORTED IN DISTRICT

Newell Soldier Is Killed; One From Irondale Missing

The first East Liverpool district casualties from D-day were listed today, with a Newell private killed and an Irondale corporal reported missing. Both were in the medical corps.

They are:

KILLED—Pvt. Charles Manning, Washington st., Newell.

MISSING—Cpl. Dexter Boggs of Irondale.

• • •

Pvt. Charles Manning, son of Mrs. Hattie Manning, Washington st., Newell, gave his life in action on June 6 in the invasion of France the war department advised his mother. He was 22.

A native of East Liverpool, he moved three years ago to Newell. Pvt. Manning was graduated from East Liverpool High school in 1940 and was employed in a Newell restaurant until he entered the army about two years ago. He served overseas for a year.

In addition to his mother, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Leland Reed of Lisbon, and a brother, Leonard Werling of Aliquippa.

• • •

Cpl. Dexter Boggs of Irondale has been missing in action since June 6 in France, the war department advised his father, Willis Boggs. He is 21.

A graduate of Irondale High school in 1941, he enlisted in the army in November, 1942. Cpl. Boggs was sent to England last November.

A brother, Cpl. Claude "Mike" Boggs, has been stationed overseas for 25 months and is serving with the Fifth army in Italy.

Ploesti Area Blasted

ROME, June 24—American Liberators today blasted the Ploesti area in Romania and Fortresses attacked a rail bridge on the Oltul river near Piatra Neami on the main line from Ploesti across Romania to central Europe.

Bond Show Series To Attract Crowds

Entertainments On Diamond This Afternoon, Tonight; Movies Monday Night

East Liverpool had no lack of entertainment for the week-end as part of the Fifth War Loan campaign, and sponsors said they expect a good sale of Bonds at the street entertainments this afternoon and tonight from the Diamond, and through the movie premieres Monday night at the Columbia and State theaters.

A large attendance is expected for both performances in the Diamond, while packed showhouses are anticipated for the films, "The Story of Dr. Wassell" at the Columbia, and "Show Business", at the State, both in technicolor.

The afternoon bond show on the Diamond was opened officially by Mayor Anold W. Devon.

Many Interesting Acts

Many interesting acts were scheduled, and entertainers were expected to put all they had into making the audience aware of the necessity of buying more Fifth War Loan Bonds.

1st Lt. Donald R. Givens, Wellsville war hero, was to appear at 2 and address the audience.

Lt Givens served 16 months in the South Pacific and was a co-pilot on three different bombers which accounted for more than 14 Jap Zercs.

Among the medals and awards given the lieutenant are the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and Four Oak Leaf Clusters. He also has campaign ribbons for the

New LTC War Craft Will Be Here Monday For Public Inspection

AN opportunity to see just what your Bonds will buy will be afforded residents of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell when a new type LCT (landing craft, tanks) docks at the wharf at the foot of Broadway Monday from noon to 2 p. m.

The vessel, which will be manned by 10 sailors, is a new type of craft and this is one of the first made. It is styled after the LST but on smaller scale.

Visitors will be shown around the boat by the crew who will explain the different working parts.

The craft was built in Ironton and is 25 feet wide and 105 long. It will carry two tanks and can land in three feet of water. The bow opening is much like that on the LST and it is of the cruiser type.

The combined Fifth War loan quotas of the three communities will be enough to finance the cost of about 25 of these craft, and war finance committees are hopeful that as many persons as possible will be spared the time to inspect this invasion-type ship.

Other inspections will be arranged for New Cumberland, between 4 and 5 p. m., and at Weirton between 6 and 9 p. m.

Arrangements for the public inspection of the craft have been made by Bernard S. Payne, deputy manager of the West Virginia war finance committee.

VICE PRESIDENT POST 'SNUBBED'

G.O.P., Believing Dewey In, Hunts For No. 2 Man

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 24—The Republican vice presidential nomination appears today to be going begging, with two of the most discussed possibilities—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio and Gov. Earl Warren of California — maintaining steadfastly that they are not considering or expecting it.

So strong has become the pre-convention hotel lobby gossip to the effect that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has the inside track for the presidential nomination that knots of delegates spend much of their time discussing the lack of a hot presidential contest.

Warren will not arrive until Sunday to testify in what has taken on the appearance of a contest among those who are certain that he will—or will not — accept the second-place designation if it is offered him.

Reports Bricker Not Interested

Rep. Carroll Reece (R) of Tennessee and Lew Wentz of Oklahoma, both national committee members, think no man could refuse to accept his party's call for the vice presidency—which Warren has shunned by telling California delegates not to vote for him for any federal office.

On the other side of the aisle, intimates of Bricker say he has refused even to discuss the possibility of taking second place, supporting his public assertion that he is not interested and does not believe it ever will be offered him.

Other vice presidential possibilities include Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, whose friends say he wouldn't have it; Rep. Everett Dirksen (R) of Illinois, and Gov. Willis of Kentucky.

Alf Landon, who once ran for

MOST MEATS SLATED TO STAY RATION FREE

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 24—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles hinted today that most meats may remain ration-free through July.

"There will be a few changes next month, but nothing drastic," he told a reporter.

He did not elaborate, explaining that official announcement of July ration point values is scheduled the latter part of next week. The only meats now rationed are beef steaks and roasts.

While Bowles did not say so, the changes planned may return point values to some of the more choice cuts of other kinds of meat.

BOMBERS HELP INVASION ARMY

Rail Bridges, Air Fields And Big German Guns Raided

By The Associated Press.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 24—American Fortresses and Liberators, ranging over France with escorting fighters which made up a total of 500 planes, hammered rail bridges, air fields and other enemy installations behind the Normandy battle zone today, while Marauders ripped four German gun positions blocking the advance of infantry into Cherbourg.

The Berlin radio reported U. S. heavy bombers also were heading into northwest Germany.

The channel skies were jammed with Allied planes of all types, which roared back and forth continuously for more than five hours this morning and which still were going strong at noon.

Guns Pounded Near Cherbourg

Renewing their close support of the Allied invasion troops, the Marauder medium bombers, under a Thunderbolt escort, dumped more than 250 tons of explosives on the heavy guns near Cherbourg.

GERMAN LINES DISPLAY SIGNS OF CRUMBLING

1,200 Nazis Are Seized In 24 Hours As Peninsula Becomes Death Trap

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 24—U. S. doughboys, smashing yard-by-yard deep into the powerful outer shell of the Cherbourg line, drove this morning within 2,000 yards—little more than a mile — of the port on the south and "enemy defenses showed signs of crumbling", a field dispatch declared.

An American spearhead punctured the stubborn, interlaced Nazi pillbox defenses southeast of Octeville, the fortress just southwest of Cherbourg, after a pulverizing air and artillery bombardment, Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead said in a dispatch written at 9:15 a. m. today (3:15 a. m., East Liverpool war time).

Headquarters said the doughboys fought forward slowly and nearly have reached the sea on both sides of the besieged port in hand-to-hand struggles with Germans resisting fanatically. The assault troops are battling "within sight of the docks", supreme headquarters said.

Becomes 'Death Trap'

Whitehead wrote that 1,200 prisoners have been taken in the last 24 hours and that the Cherbourg line has become a "death trap" for hundreds of Nazis being forced to fight by German officers holding guns at their backs.

In bitter battle, the Americans have blasted a wedge deep into the German line and "Cherbourg is doomed as an enemy stronghold", he added.

On the eastern wing of the Normandy beachhead, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery lashed out with his first swift attack to break the German hold on that sector and captured Ste. Honorine la Chardonnerette, four miles northeast of Caen.

A field dispatch said an American break-through was made between Mont du Roc and Octeville. Fortified Mont du Roc is two and a half miles southwest of Cherbourg's city limits, near Nouainville, where rises one of the three peaks dominating the port. Octeville is a fortress site two miles east of Nouainville.

Break-Throughs Exploited

Before this break-through other American forces captured by storm a fortified high point at Tourlaville, a mile east of Cherbourg, another of the peaks.

Presumably these two break-throughs are being exploited in bitter fighting because the supreme command's communique 37 noted this morning:

"We are making steady progress and now are within a short distance of the north coast on both sides of the fortress."

(The Berlin radio this morning said after several hours of heavy fighting the Americans have broken into the outer defense zone in the south and southeast, but asserted they were stopped there. It declared "No fewer than eight infantry and two tank divisions" have been thrown into the assault.

(The German communique today acknowledged that Americans have captured a number of strong points and made further progress toward Cherbourg. Local attacks were repulsed elsewhere in Normandy and Nazi coastal batteries "scattered" an Allied landing unit east of the Orne river, the high command added, with naval units sinking

Heavy Nazi Losses Reported As Reds Launch New Assault

Russians Smash Within 75 Miles Of Latvian Border; Finn Drive Goes On

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, June 24—The Red army, in a new central front offensive that is an integral part of Allied grand strategy, rolled westward in spectacular fashion today and reached points only 75 miles from the Latvian border.

The Russians battled swollen streams and considerable mud northwest of Vitebsk, where they pushed upon Polotsk, 32 miles away.

Reports from the Finnish front are that the new offensive has retracted nothing from the drive toward Helsinki and the liberation of the Leningrad-Murmansk railway.

Progress was reported in all the fighting areas, with the Finns apparently still unable to hold the weight of Russian armor and infantry.

Moves In Direction Of Minsk

Southeast of Vitebsk, on the central front, where the Russians have been across the highway from Vitebsk to the German-held fortress of Orsha, the Red army surged forward and cut the railway which parallels the highway. It moved in the general direction of Minsk.

Operations in this sector across the Nazi communications appear to be outflanking Vitebsk so badly the big Nazi garrison has no railways into the city.

(The German radio said the Russians, using 11 divisions, have broken into German positions on both sides of Vitebsk and that "heavy fighting goes on, with the Russians attempting to encircle the town.")

Military observers here point out this probably is the first phase of Russia's summer offensive, recalling that last summer Stalin drove swift feints in several directions, then struck home with his main blows.

Enormous Nazi Losses Reported

Soviet troops plunging nearly 10 miles through the German defense belt northwest and southwest of Vitebsk in White Russia inflicted enormous losses on the enemy, Moscow announced.

A broadcast Russian communique, detailing first gains in the new offensive that rounds out the United Nations strategy of hammering Hitler's Europe from the west, south and east, said yesterday's attacks cut the last railway line connecting German troops at Vitebsk with the rear.

Artillery and aircraft battered Nazi fortifications for several hours, then, "in the wake of a wall of fire", Red army infantry began the attack, the Russian communique said.

These were the immediate gains listed:

SEVEN AND A HALF to nine and a half miles on a 19-mile-wide front northwest of Vitebsk, with more than 100 towns taken; gains

FIGHTING AND STRIKES GRIP NORTHERN ITALY

By The Associated Press.

BERN, Switzerland, June 24 — Reports from the Italian border today told of street fighting in Bologna and Milan, a general strike in Genoa and strikes in several factories in Turin, with the German-Fascist grip on northern Italy weakening steadily.

The Swiss Telegraphic Agency said German SS troops have established permanent guards in Milan factories to combat strikes and check a wave of sabotage.

The confusion and disorder resembles that of the northland, when the cities widely celebrated the removal of Mussolini.

WHERE RUSSIANS STRIKE. The Russian army, in a new central front offensive, has struck within 75 miles of the Latvian border as pressure against the Germans increased on all fronts. The Reds are battling the Nazis northwest and southeast of Vitebsk, moving in the general direction of Minsk. The heavy arrows show where the Germans reported the Russians struck, a day before the offensive was announced from Moscow.

BIG JAP CARRIER BELIEVED SUNK

U.S. Sub Pounds Flat-Top; Guam Hit, Tokyo Says

By The Associated Press.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, June 24—A new 28,000-ton Japanese aircraft carrier is believed to be at the bottom of the Philippines sea—latest reported addition to the disaster which beset Nippon's navy when it hesitantly tried to stay the impending doom of Saipan's garrison.

An American submarine rammed three torpedoes into the vitals of the costly Shokaku class flat-top Sunday and the navy, disclosing the action Friday night, conservatively stated:

"The Japanese carrier is regarded as probably sunk."

Sunday was the day Jap carriers loosed a costly, long-distance attack on the U. S. invasion fleet at Saipan.

MacArthur's Fliers Bag 6 Ships

The navy already had announced that American carrier planes, giving chase to the enemy fleet Monday, sank four enemy ships, including a 19,000-ton carrier, and damaged 10 other ships, including a battleship, two 19,000-ton carriers, a light carrier and a cruiser.

Last night's communique added a fifth ship, a destroyer, to the carrier and three tankers previously listed as definitely sunk.

Increasing Japan's shipping woes, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today his bombers probably sank an enemy merchantman and destroyed five coastal vessels off northwestern Dutch New Guinea. Yesterday the navy reported from Washington that submarines recently sank 15 Japansee cargo vessels and a navy auxiliary.

Tokyo Reports Guam Raid

Tokyo radio reported 60 American carrier planes attacked Guam, southwest of Saipan, Friday and claimed 15 were shot down. It was west of Guam that the carriers of Task Force 58 darted Monday to launch planes against the fleeing Japanese fleet.

Tokyo radio, which earlier had told the homeland of the loss of a carrier, spiced the Guam announcement with the totally unconfirmed report that Japanese planes "heavily damaged" two U. S. carriers off Saipan Friday.

To date, the United States navy has reported superficial damage to two carriers and a battleship and the loss of 70 planes as the price paid for inflicting defeat on the Japanese navy and shooting down more than 360 enemy carrier planes.

Other Japanese radio and press reports told of new raids this

AMERICANS AIM AT SAIPAN PEAK

Bid To Isolate One Of Japs' Key Defense Positions

By The Associated Press.

A FORWARD COMMAND POST, Saipan Island, June 23—(Delayed)—American army troops and marines fanned out on the rugged slopes of Mt. Tapotchau today for a major attempt to isolate one of the key Japanese defense points on battle-torn Saipan.

Tapotchau, a formidable volcanic citadel and the highest peak on the island, has many artillery-defying caves and tunnels and has been coated by the enemy with death-dealing armament.

Huge Blockhouse Used

Near its peak, aerial reconnaissance has disclosed a huge concrete blockhouse surrounded by pillboxes, believed to be the enemy's island headquarters.

A pincers drive on Tapotchau seeks to block off the strategic position, capture of which would give the Americans a dominating observation point for the entire island as well as command of Tanapang harbor on the northwestern side.

Other army units continued a cleanup of southern sectors, where possibly 500 Japanese remain hidden in the caves and crevices of the Magicienne bay area. The main enemy defense force of possibly 20,000 men is on the northern end of the island.

Japs Lack Drinking Water

Ground troops received their first air support Thursday from army fighter planes operating from hastily regained by Seabees.

Lack of drinking water may turn out to be the fatal weakness of the Japanese defenses.

There is evidence that the water supply is critically low behind the Jap lines. Prisoners invariably beg for water when brought in and many have to be forcibly restrained from snatching the canteens of their American troops.

The naval artillery smashed big Jap water-distilling apparatus and fresh water tanks before the first wave of marines hit the beaches at Charan Kanova.

Chemical Trust Charged

NEW YORK, June 24—The anti-trust division of the department of justice filed suit today in federal court to enjoin three American chemical companies from continuing what the complaint charged is a worldwide monopoly of patents in the war-essential titanium industry.

Named in the complaint are the National Lead Co.; its subsidiary, Titan Company, Inc., and the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co.

WEST VIRGINIA, PENNSYLVANIA AREAS LASHED

McKeesport, Shinnston Are Among Cities Hit; Ruins To Run Into Millions

BULLETIN

PITTSBURGH, June 24—The known dead reached 133 today in the tornado which swept Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland Friday.

By The Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH June 24—Mounting reports of death and destruction in the tornado which tore with ruinous fury through parts of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland sent the death toll to at least 130 today, while more victims are being sought in wrecked communities.

In West Virginia, the death list now stands at 95 and in Pennsylvania at 35, with hundreds injured and many others homeless along a narrow twisting path mainly in rural areas.

Maryland state police reported that possibly 15 additional persons were killed and many injured when the storm, which broke at nightfall Friday night, hit Garrett county, just across the West Virginia line. Landslides hampered relief crews.

Skirts Rim Of Pittsburgh

Skirting the southern rim of Pittsburgh, the wind lashed with great fury into the suburbs of McKeesport, Pa., a city of nearly 60,000, then cut a swath southward 100 miles to Shinnston, W. Va.

In its wake, hundreds were left homeless as whole blocks in some communities were leveled, hospitals were filled with hundreds of injured persons and power and communications lines were blown down.

The Red Cross immediately sent disaster relief crews into the stricken areas with blood plasma, medical supplies and food and cots for the injured and homeless.

Families Trapped In Homes

Civilian defense organizations and military police and army medical corps units from Pittsburgh and other cities worked side by side with local police, fire and relief agencies.

Devastation was terrific. Striking at nightfall, the storm trapped many families in their homes. Through the night, rescue workers dug by the light of flashlight and torch to extricate the bodies

Storm Disrupts War Work

By The Associated Press.

MARIETTA, June 24—A storm which swept through western Pennsylvania and West Virginia disrupted war work here today. More than 2,000 war workers were sent home and two plants shut down because of insufficient electrical power.

Marietta is the only Ohio community served by the Monongahela West Penn Co., whose power lines in West Virginia were effected by the storm.

LIGHTNING KILLS MAN; HAIL CAUSES DAMAGE

High Winds Whip Gardens, Orchards Over County

Columbiana escaped the severe storm that caused such widespread devastation in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, but accompanying disturbances Friday night in the district resulted in the death of a fisherman, struck by lightning, extensive damage in East Palestine from hail, and windwhipped crops in the rural areas.

Robert Henderson, 34, former soldier, of Sebring, was killed instantly when lightning struck a tree under which he had taken shelter at Westville lake, six miles west of Salem.

Mr. Henderson was fishing at Westville lake and, when the storm came up about 6, he hurried to shelter under a tree in nearby woods. His body was found a few minutes after the rain had subsided by Miss Anna McDaniels, who was on a picnic at the lake.

The sheriff's office at Lisbon was notified and Sheriff George

Judge Rules Red Cross, National War Fund, Farewell Group Entitled To War Chest Cash

Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon Friday approved the action of the East Liverpool War Chest board of trustees in its proposed distribution of $10,200 of the remaining $10,684.80 to the American Red Cross, the National War fund and the Joint Farewell association.

By the terms of the order, $5,000 will be given to the Red Cross of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell; $5,000 to the National War fund for East Liverpool, Chester and Newell, and $200 to the Joint Farewell association for its proposed new honor roll.

The application of 13 other organizations, including veterans' posts, churches and service, welfare and civic groups, which sought a total of $24,612, were rejected by the court's action in authorizing payments to the three organizations.

Rejected Applications

These applications and the purposes included:

The Joint Farewell association, $4,032 with which to pay the entire cost of erecting a new honor roll.

The Girl Scouts of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell, $1,500 to extend the activities of their organization in the district.

"Cal" Courier, $4,000 to publish and mail a news letter to servicemen and women.

An unnamed group, $2,000 for enlargement of the honor roll on the Diamond.

Columbiana county Boy Scout council, $2,500 to erect and equip a cabin at the McKinley Boy Scout reservation, and for other camping equipment.

Charles C. Cox camp 105, United Spanish War Veterans, $2,120 to carry on the organization's activities.

Daughters of the Union Veterans, $1,000 for its varied activities.

African Methodist Episcopal church, $500 for the welfare of Negro men in the service while home on furloughs and after their return to the service.

East Liverpool Negro Civic league, $200 for improvements to its clubhouse in East End.

Second Baptist church, $1,000 for a heating system and new pews in church on State st.

St. Stephen's Episcopal church, $2,000 to help liquidate a mortgage on church property.

East Liverpool Humane society, $1,000 for erection of animal shelter and work in caring for homeless animals.

Chester post 121, American Legion, $2,760 for a new post home and for welfare activities of the organization in Chester.

Represented Personally

Each organization filing an application to share in the fund, with two exceptions, was represented at the meeting by a person who explained the need for funds and why they felt they were entitled to share in the balance in the War Chest fund.

Most of these witnesses appeared at the morning session. In the afternoon County Commissioner Frank Fisher of St. Clair township spoke in behalf of the request of the National War fund and Rev. R. K. Caulk, rector appealed for a contribution to St. Stephen's church. Mrs. A. E. Stoddard also spoke for the application of the Girl Scouts when Judge Sharp opened the case for "argument" in the afternoon.

Mrs. May Morley Bryan, who spoke first in behalf of the $1,500 application for the Girl Scouts of East Liverpool, Chester and Newell, declared today that the money was intended to be used as a "foundation" for the education and training of girls.

She said that none of it would have been used for the erection of a cabin on property near Thompson park.

Court Awaits Logan

No spokesman appeared in behalf of the $2,000 request for enlarging the honor roll on the Diamond, although Judge Sharp held up proceedings for about an hour when word was received that Charles R. Logan, who had filed the application, was enroute from East Liverpool. Mr. Logan had not arrived when the hearing was concluded.

Neither "Cal" Courier, whose identity was not made public, nor any one representing him appeared at the hearing, but Judge Sharp heard an appeal in behalf of the request over the radio, which was given by Ethel Lynn, news commentator, from station WSTV.

Advised by Atty. W. H. Vodrey after the noon adjournment that Miss Lynn would broadcast an explanation of the plan of sending news letters to men and women in the service by "Cal' Courier, Judge Sharp and a group of the War Chest board went to the office of Sheriff George Hayes near the close of the hearing to listen to the broadcast.

All Considered Worthy

"All of these applications are very worthy," Judge Sharp commented. "We accept that without proof. But the question to decide is how close are these applications to the purpose for which the War Chest was given?

"I am not trying to determine which of these applications is the most worthy," the judge continued at the conclusion of the trial, and added: "Thank God I do not have to pass on that."

The judge expressed the opinion that he always had felt that the "Red Cross did not receive its share" of the money which was raised originally. He asserted that the organization has received only half of the amount originally earmarked for it when the chest was being subscribed.

He asserted that when he had issued a ruling to distribute some $19,000 among the veterans' organizations more than a year ago he was mindful of the long fight which had been waged by these organizations to have a settlement of their claims.

As a result, he asserted, four veterans' organizations in East Liverpool had been paid at the rate of $40 a member. He pointed out that neither the Spanish-American Veterans camp nor the Chester American Legion post had been a party to the original court actions started about 1922 for a distribution of the fund.

Not Original Intent

"There was no intent among the subscribers of the War chest to give any of this fund to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Humane society, Daughters of Union Veterans or to churches, no matter how worthy such organizations are," he said.

He praised the work of the Red Cross and the National War fund which, it was testified at the hearing, supported the work of the USO in and near army camps. He also declared that "Cal" Courier is doing an "excellent job".

"The War Chest trustees are in favor of giving $5,000 to the Red Cross, $5,000 to the National War fund and $200 to the Joint Farewell association for the honor roll," he said. "This action I approve."

At the conclusion of the hearing the court requested Atty. Raymond S. Buzzard, representing the War Chest board of trustees, to write the entry for his decision, and this Mr. Buzzard agreed to do.

The distribution of $10,200 Friday leaves a balance of $484.80. There was no mention at the hearing as to what disposition will be made of this balance but one War Chest board member said that it probably will be divided among the two principal beneficiaries after court costs and other expenses in connection with the hearing are disposed of.

VICE PRESIDENT POST 'SNUBBED'

president himself, said there is a great deal of talk about "rewarding" Bricker with the vice presidential nomination — if he fails to get the first place designation his friends still think will come to him —for the strenuous campaign the Ohio governor has made as the only avowed major presidential candidate.

Landon insisted he has no personal interest in the matter, but he told a reporter he is satisfied Bricker has made more friends than almost any other campaigner in recent years. Landon openly is supporting Dewey for the presidential nomination.

Dewey took the attention away from what many called a middle-of-the-road foreign policy declaration with a message yesterday to the platform committee. He accused the Roosevelt administration of an abuse of power and proposed that the "next administration" overhaul the federal government.

Dewey Lashes Administration

Dewey said: "The national administration has become a sprawling overlapping bureaucracy. It is undermined by executive abuse of power, confused line of authority, duplication of effort, inadequate fiscal controls, loose personnel practices and an attitude of arrogance previously unknown in our history.

"The times cry out for the restoration of harmony in government, for a balance of legislative and executive responsibility, for efficiency and economy, for pruning and abolishing unnecessary agencies and personnel, for effective fiscal and personnel controls and for an entirely new spirit in our federal government."

"We need an administration wherein the president, acting in harmony with congress, will effect these necessary reforms and raise the federal service to a high level of efficiency and competence."

Committee Report Given

Previously Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, chairman of the platform group, had presented the report of the post-war finance committee.

It recommended:

1.—Post-war reduction of individual income tax rates.

2.—Abolition of the excess profits tax, elimination of tax duplication on corporation stockholders and abolition of the capital gains levy.

3.—Elimination of federal excise taxes on all items but liquor and tobacco, with gasoline taxes turned back to the states.

The prospective foreign plank is up for final consideration before a resolutions sub-committee headed by Sen. Austin (R) of Vermont today, with Austin predicting that it will be adopted without material changes.

Sen. Brooks (R) of Illinois, a leader of so-called Nationalists, has called it satisfactory and Austin said Sen. Ball (R) of Minnesota, an exponent of broad measures of international collaboration, has telephoned his approval from Washington.

Byrd Boom Launched

A group of Republican congressmen started a Byrd-for-vice president boom in Washington Friday, but the Democratic senator from Virginia declared he was not a candidate.

He barely took time out from a renewal of his governmental economy demands and an excoriation of Sen. Guffey (D) of Pennsylvania to tell reporters:

"I'm not a candidate on any ticket whatsoever."

That also had been his response to southern anti-fourth term moves to make him head of the Democratic ticket.

But the talk of a G. O. P. excursion outside party lines went right on with Rep. Knutson, ranking Republican on the house ways and means committee, saying he will promote at the Republican national convention the idea of offering the second place on the ticket to Byrd.

Knutson is to arrive in Chicago today. With Byrd on the ticket, he said, "we can carry Virginia, North Carolina and several other southern states.

Dr. R. C. Radabaugh, national chairman of the Stassen-for-President committee, said Friday Stassen's name will be presented to the Republican national convention for the presidential nomination and that Stassen will not take the vice presidential place "under any circumstances."

Taft Cites Differences Between G.O.P., New Deal

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 24—Four "distinct principles" distinguish the "New Deal party" from the Republican party, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio asserted Friday night.

He told the Executives club they are "federalization of all power, disregard for individual freedom, delegation of all legislative power to executive bureau and solving all problems by federal spending".

He added that Americans "are submitting themselves voluntarily to Fascist controls".

Taft said the totalitarian tendency to rely upon the federal government "has permeated all the people of the United States, even those who say they are against it".

He said the demand for government aid was noticable in local post-war planning, adding that "every city in the country is making vast plans for public works and they all seem to think the federal government is going to finance them".

Asserting that such spending was stopped long before the war, he said he has "no idea" why we believe it will be resumed.

He continued in the same vein, saying agriculture always is asking congress for federal funds and that small business wants a law passed for loans to small business.

Taft said he advocates state-administered and financed social welfare and public housing programs "with a little help" from the federal government.

He said all the states are operating on a surplus basis, but that the federal government is running at a deficit of 60 billion dollars yearly.

The Ohio congressman said he has heard a "great deal" of talk about a shortage of working capital, but he is convinced that if the government will see that industry receives cash for assets frozen by the war effort, there will be enough cash for private capital to procede.

America's post-war effort, he said, is full employment through private enterprise.

Double Feature

CARBONDALE, Ill. — John Wright has a double feature fish tale to spin. While he was casting at Crab Orchard lake his bait became tangled on a twig. When he tried to disconnect it, he noticed a large bass playing nearby. The bass made a lunge at the wiggler and was hooked. Just then another bass became interested and went the way of the first. The story has a happy ending—he landed them both.

CONGRESS ENDS HEAVY SESSION; RESTS 5 WEEKS

Six Months Just Completed Were Devoted Largely To Post-War Action

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 24—Congress left Washington Friday for a five-week vacation after six-month session devoted largely to charting the course for return to normalcy when peace comes.

Reflecting the belief of many members that the major battles of the war will have been won in the not too distant future, congress rushed through in the final days of the session legislation to expedite the return of industry to civilian production and put a one-year limitation, to June 30, 1945, on the extended life of the wartime price, rent and control act.

The business legislation was designed to expedite settlement of terminated war contracts.

Map Aid For Veterans

Fully half of the six-month meeting was spent blueprinting a program of aid to returning servicemen.

To keep the national debt from bulging through its war-weakened ceiling, congress enacted a law boosting the debt limit to 260 billion.

President Roosevelt estimated the actual debt will reach 258 billion by July 1, 1945, if the war continues.

On the other side of the financial picture, appropriations fell to the lowest figure since the war started, aggregating approximately 66 billion in new money, compared with last year's 114½ billion.

Other Actions Listed

The dramatic highlight of the session came Feb. 22, when the President tartly vetoed the $2,300,000,000 second wartime tax bill. The administration has asked for $10,500,000,000.

Actions on "Getaway day" included:

THE HOUSE, by voice vote, ordered an investigation of government farm credit agencies, with the view to coordinate their activities.

THE HOUSE, refused to take an action that would have resulted in giving two admirals higher corresponding rank than that held by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief-of-staff.

The bill asked a new title—admiral of the fleet—for Ams. Ernest J. King and William D. Leahy, so they might rank with their Allied Nations' counter-parts.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT signed a $27,569,798,301 appropriation bill for the navy.

THE SENATE sent the $49,107,785,795 war department appropriation bill to the White House.

Fierce Finn Fighting Reported

"The enemy is suffering enormous losses," the communique said. "German trenches and battlefields are littered with Hitlerite corpses, smashed equipment and material."

Fierce fighting also raged on the Finnish front. Nazi combat planes were said by the German radio to have entered the fighting on the Karelian isthmus.

(It is considered likely in London that the Russians will seek quick liquidation of German control in the Baltic states, possibly by a push along the railroad to Riga, Latvia.

(The Finnish campaign would be tied in with such a plan, since with control of southern Finland the Russians could take over the German stronghold of Tallinn, Estonia, and knock out Baltic submarine nests.)

A Soviet war map published in Moscow has disclosed Russian troops on the presently quiet front in old Poland are only 45 miles from Brest-Litovsk, which the Germans captured three years ago, and are within 460 miles of Berlin.

HARD FIGHTING RAGES IN VITAL BURMA BASE

Mogaung's Outskirts Torn; Chindits Occupy Town

By The Associated Press.

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, June 24—Heavy fighting has broken out in the outskirts of Mogaung in northern Burma and 12 miles to the west Maj. Gen. W. D. A. Lentaigne's Chindit forces have occupied Sawngching, a headquarters communique said today.

The Chindits killed 200 Japanese, including 10 officers, and the Chinese in the area captured a 150-mm. gun, three heavy mortars and an ammunition dump, the communique said.

In the India fighting, the speed of an Allied advance which cleared the 60-mile stretch of the Kohima-Imphal road surprised the Japanese, the bulletin said, and large numbers were killed.

Booty included 10 75-mm. guns. Allied troops are mopping up a few small enemy detachments east and west of the road.

American troops in the area of besieged Myitkyina in northern Burma are reported to have launched a dawn attack from the north, advancing 300 yards and taking two positions.

Death Takes 'Trixie'

Police Dog That Amused So Many Dies At 10

"TRIXIE", trained police dog of Worthy Christman, which was known to hundreds of dog lovers in East Liverpool because of her exhibitions on the street, will amuse no more.

"Trixie", who was 10 years old, died Thursday afternoon in Cleveland, where Mr. Christman has been living for the last two years. He formerly resided at 752 Daisy lane.

Mr. Christman got "Trixie" when she was a pup. He trained her to cry like a baby, to "play dead", to wear a bonnet and glasses, hold a pipe in her mouth, and scores of other tricks which she performed for the entertainment of sidewalk crowds while Mr. Christman gave her her daily exercise.

"Trixie" had her last litter of pups just a few days before her death.

Today's Markets

STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 24 — Low-priced specialties again monopolized the stock market in early proceedings today, several of them managing to score modest advances.

Slow at the opening, dealings picked up slightly as sizable blocks of packing shares changed hands. Doing a shade better were Wilson, Santa Fe, Delaware and Hudson, Electric Power and Light, North American and U. S. Steel. General Electric stumbled.

Encouraging to some bullish contingents was the backing Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau gave to revision of taxes in such a manner as to encourage venture capital, and to increase the incentives for business expansion.

Although commenting that taxes will have to remain high, Morgenthau said: "You have to let the businessman make a profit."

YANKS' VICTORY OVER JAPS TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

U.S. Fleet Outmaneuvered, As Well As Overpowered, Nipponese In Pacific

(This story by Associated Press Correspondent William Worden is the first detailed account of the intricate tactics by which the U. S. fleet not only overpowered but outmaneuvered the Japanese fleet defeated off the Philippines.)

By WILLIAM L. WORDEN
Representing Combined U.S. Press

ABOARD THE FLAGSHIP, U.S. FIFTH FLEET, June 21—(Delayed)—This huge force today completed the rout of the Japanese grand fleet from waters east of the Philippine islands without firing a salvo from its formidable battleline or losing a ship.

Japanese losses in the two-phased plane-versus-fleet battle included at least 358 planes downed in an attack on our fleet off Guam and possibly one carrier blown up and another set afire badly when our planes rained bombs and torpedoes on the enemy.

(Adm. Chester Nimitz announced Jap plane losses were at least 368 and that 14 enemy ships were sunk or damaged. Worden's story was the first disclosure, however, that Guam was the site of the Sunday air battle in which 353 enemy planes were downed. Guam is the southernmost and largest of the Marianas islands, which include Saipan.)

Many Fliers Rescued

Our losses in the second phase—Monday—were moderate and a majority of downed airmen were rescued despite the hazardous return to carriers for night landings at sea.

It was believed today the Japanese fleet has fled behind the Philippines and that the threat of ship or sea-based plane action against our landing forces at Saipan has ended.

The first phase occurred June 19 when planes and anti-aircraft guns of Adm. Raymond Ames Spruance's fleet, within sight of Guam, turned the Jap attack into one of the war's greatest aerial disasters for the Axis.

Enemy planes attacked from the west in long-range flights from carriers, struck the American fleet with the obvious intention of going on to Guam to refuel.

Spruance, however, held the fleet near Guam all day and sent waves of bombers over Guam and Rota and prevented enemy planes from landing on those islands.

He made it virtually certain no planes survived the aerial battle, which ranged over hundreds of miles of sea. The Jap planes which escaped our fighters and anti-aircraft almost certainly were lost attempting to return to their comrades, which were out of fuel range.

Jap Personnel Losses 100 Percent

Enemy personnel losses were almost 100 percent, since the battles took place in an area controlled by Spruance's fleet and the Japanese could make no attempt at rescuing their pilots.

Naturally, it was impossible to see much of the first phase, which was a series of encounters from 10 a. m. until dark, but part of the battle did rage within sight of the flagship.

The first action was the take-off of hundreds of American planes as the Japs were reported approaching. In a few minutes black puffs of anti-aircraft fire appeared over battleships on the horizon.

The distant ships seemed wreathed in fire as multiple batteries threw up an unbelievable wall of steel.

Almost immediately bomb bursts spouted in the water and two enemy planes started burning in the air and crashed. Puffs of ack-ack thickened and spread until a quarter of the horizon was a polka dot of smoke balls in the still soundless battle.

The enemy was reported approaching from three sides. Vapor flowed from friendly planes climbing into the sky. The vapor trails intermingled and formed artificial clouds. The planes were visible only when sunlight flashed on their wings.

First Attack Repelled

The first attack was repelled on the fringes of the fleet. An hour later more bombers appeared. One crossed our stern under intense ack-ack and dropped one bomb. It missed. The bomber caught fire when the flagship's 44-mm. shells found it. The plane hesitated like a tired bird and fell slowly into the sea.

The fleet turned and twisted, but other Japs came in. A battleship on the horizon appeared to have a continuous belch of flame from its guns, firing steadily for 20 minutes.

A torpedo bomber off our starboard quarter passed over frantic fire of destroyers without apparent hurt, but then he calmly banked over the waves and crashed wing down into the sea, afire.

Overhead, the war in the clouds went on silently and invisibly, the guns of the ships drowning out that conflict.

Another torpedo plane flew over the destroyer and then died spectacularly, the destroyer blowing it apart. A wing came off and floated down like paper. The engine fell out flaming and the plane dived slowly as a torpedo fell out of its belly end over end.

Spruance Goes To Lunch

Before noon the near battle was over. Ack-ack still dappled the horizons but no more planes came in. At 12:30 Adm. Spruance set the example by going to lunch.

New attacks hit the fringes of the fleet during the afternoon but the battle center moved toward Guam and Rota, where Americans caught the fuel-less Japs trying to land.

There also were fighters there trying to protect the air fields and they were downed. On one Guam field only five planes remained next morning of more than a hundred which the Japanese had planned to have there.

At dusk the last American planes returned to the circling carriers and added up the incredible score—353 to 21.

Some of the downed American pilots were picked up later. Carriers worked until after dark easing stragglers onto decks.

One landing in full darkness was made on a carrier which proudly flew the Lone Star flag of Texas under the United States emblem.

Doubtless the Japanese would have been confused about a new ally of the United Nations if any had lived to tell about seeing it. But none did.

By 10 p. m. there were no further alarms, nothing anywhere on the sea as the fleet rushed toward Japanese ships to the westward, nothing except occasional floating wreckage of what had been Nippon's sea-based aerial fleet.

CHEMIST TELLS OF 'CHECKS' ON WATER SAFETY

Lions Club Hears Filtration Of Kobuta Wastes Alone Costs $30 To $70

The prevailing taste and odor of East Liverpool's water supply is costing the taxpayers $30 to $70 a day, as employes of the city waterworks are forced to use activated charcoal to make it fit for domestic use.

This interesting sidelight on the operation costs of the city's water filtration was presented Friday during a discussion by T. H. Larkins, city chemist, before members of the Lions club in the Travelers hotel.

According to Mr. Larkins, the wastes dumped into the Ohio river from the synthetic rubber plant at Kobuta have given filtration plants up and down the Ohio river as far south as Cincinnati a problem to test the limits of ingenuity.

High Daily Consumption

"We are pumping 4,000,000 gallons a day," he said, "and it requires 300 to 800 pounds of activated charcoal for each million gallons. The waste from the synthetic rubber plant is not harmful to the health, but the odor and taste are so unpleasant it requires constant vigilance to keep the water usable."

He said he believes the condition is improving as federal chemists have been working the last 10 weeks in the Kobuta laboratories to eliminate the difficulty.

Mr. Larkins told the club the government has interesting plans for the Ohio river after the war when proper sewage plants will be installed up and down the waterway and the river will be brought back to the "beauty of the days of the Indians. It will really become the beautiful Ohio".

He chided the men for not taking more interest in the filtration plant and its operation.

10 Visitors A Year

"The people do not pay much attention to us," he said. "We have approximately 10 visitors a year, with the exception of the Nurses' training class from the City hospital. It's your responsibility. You are paying for it, and we are glad to explain how your money is being used in its operation."

He said it is necessary to keep the water slightly on the alkaline side and for that reason calcium is added to fight acid water. Occasionally a calcium curd will form on top a pan or tub of water and the housewife will say, "this water is hard".

"East Liverpool does not have hard water," he declared, "but, with all the refuse and sewage being dumped in the river from Pittsburgh, Kobuta and the mills above us, we occasionally have to take drastic means to keep it pure."

Bacterial Content Checked

East Liverpool's water is germproof, he assured the club members, as its bacterial content is checked twice daily and its chemical content once a day.

After the war a lot of new equipment must be installed in the filtration plant, as some of the machinery has been in constant use for 23 years. He said he also hopes for the day when the city will have covered reservoirs and all possible danger of contamination through air-borne larva will be eliminated.

In answer to a question concerning possible home methods of eliminating the bad taste and odor, the chemist said boiling will not affect the condition.

"It is what the chemist calls a 'hot water taste' and boiling only will aggravate it. If you want a good example, try taking a hot shower and see what I mean."

How To Remove Odor

However, evaporation will solve the problem. "Set an open pan full of water on your kitchen table and after a couple of hours chill it for drinking purposes and you will not notice the odor,' he assured the club.

In conclusion, Mr. Larkins said East Liverpool is using too much water daily. This city is among the three highest water consumers per capita in the United States. Approximately 200 gallons per capita is being pumped each day, he said.

He said he believes the installation of meters will be the answer to the problem and "will result in lower pumping costs and lower water bills, as meters actually save consumers money."

Local Sergeant Helps Move Supplies To Fighting Fronts

S/Sgt. Rodney Stull of East Liverpool and his fellow service technicians are helping to write "behind-the-lines" war history, according to a war department release.

Their participation in the invasion of North Africa began early in November, 1942, while aboard a ship in Casablanca harbor watching as the infantry rolled up on the beach and captured a port area.

Then Sgt. Stull and other technicians took to their landing crafts and kept the supplies moving rapidly to the front.

Sgt. Stull is the son of Mrs. David McIlvane, 938 St. George st. His wife, Mrs. Mildred Wilson Stull, and 20-month-old son, David Eugene, whom he has never seen, reside at 1017 Ephriam st.

Sgt. Stull has had several narrow escapes. In February, 1943, he fell 12 feet from the top of a freight car to a concrete siding. An immediate back operation was performed and then he recuperated for seven weeks in a hospital.

Three weeks later he was jammed between two several-ton boxes but escaped with minor cuts. On another occasion, while he was operating a crane loading 500-pound bombs onto a car, the cable snapped and the bombs crashed to the pavement a few feet away. But nothing happened!

A graduate of East Liverpool High school, he was employed as a store manager for the National Shoe service before entering the army in February, 1941. He has been overseas more than a year.

Headquarters of the European theater of operations reveals there are three East Liverpool brothers serving in the same unit at an army general depot in England. They are:

First Sgt. Harry C. Keys, T/Sgt. John W. Keys, husband of Mrs. Marjorie Keys, 829 Bank st., and T/Sgt. Robert C. Keys, husband of Mrs. Martha N. Keys of Georgetown. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Keys, 340 East Eighth st.

Among those at the amphibious training base at Camp Bradford, Norfolk, Va., preparing for duty aboard an LST-landing ship, tanks —are four East Liverpool servicemen. They are:

Seaman Vincent A. Foreman, 744 Sophia st.; Seaman (2c) Hugh Theodore McKernan Jr, 1452 Dresden ave.; Seaman Spencer Rose, Glenmoor r. d. 1, and Seaman Charles A. Brooks, 1038 Edgewood ave.

Apprentice Seaman Raymond F. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson, Ambrose ave., is taking his boot training at Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va.

A Wellsville lieutenant has written home that royalty smiled upon him.

He is 2nd Lt. Phillip McClelland, who recently arrived in England with an ordnance evaucation unit. He wrote that as he and another lieutenant were standing near Buckingham palace, they saw the king and queen driving by. The officers saluted and as the king returned it and the queen smiled at them.

His brother, Cpl. Fred McClelland, has been transferred to North Africa with a railway detachment. They are the sons of Mrs. Blanche McClelland, Broadway, Wellsville.

Pvt. Victor Kapp, husband of Mrs. Dorothy Kapp, 1015 Phoenix ave., Chester, is a patient in the station hospital at Sheppard Field, Tex.

B-29 PUT ON DISPLAY, TOKYO RADIO ASSERTS

By The Associated Press.

A Domei broadcast from Tokyo today said the "wreckage of the enemy's vaunted super-Fortress, which fell victim to our interception fire" in the raid on northern Kyushu June 15, has been put on exhibition at Anmatsuya department store.

Parts exhibited include bullet-proof glass, a double-barreled cannon, shells and cartridges, Domei reported.

The Japanese originally claimed to have shot down seven of the planes, but later acknowledged that they had succeeded in bringing down only one. They later reported salvage operations off Kyushu in an effort to find three or four more.

The war department announced one of the bombers was lost over the target, another is missing, and two more failed to get back to their bases because of accidents.

Choice Of The Convention

IN a few more days, another Republican national convention will be political history. It is difficult to realize the time has come so soon. It is no disparagement of the part which politics plays in the nation's war experience to admit that its events are overshadowed.

The choice of the convention for the party's presidential nominee never was attended with circumstances of greater importance than it is this year. The fact is not yet being discussed freely, because of hesitancy to face it in wartime, but the Republican presidential nominee represents the only possibility of closely-coordinated and purposeful federal administration during the next four years.

The Roosevelt administration has reached that precarious point of political experience which finds its elements of strength divided. It has found only a strong opposition in the country and a reflection of that opposition in the steadily-increasing strength of the Republican party, but has developed opposition within itself.

If, as seems daily more probable, President Roosevelt decides to run for reelection and, after consultation with himself, decides to run Mr. Wallace again as his vice presidential candidate, the alternative will lie between a third government of divided factions and a fresh government united by its efforts to win a popular mandate.

With the difference that the war has diverted attention from its weaknesses as a majority party, the Democratic party today is in the same circumstances as those which destroyed confidence in the Republican party in 1932. It cannot demonstrate ability to propose and carry through a program because of its own internal disintegration. It is divided within itself over a range of viewpoints stretching from the American Communists, who have taken possession of its left wing, to the Jeffersonians, huddled uncomfortably in a lean-to somewhere on the fringes of its right wing.

The choice of the Republican convention this week in Chicago may not be the next chief executive of the United States, but unless he is—barring developments unforeseen now—the United States will face four years of administrative floundering by a government whose purposes, aside from remaining in power, no longer can be defined.

As the convention opens, the apparent choice lies between Gov. Bricker of Ohio and Gov. Dewey of New York. There are several other possibilities who would become important in case the convention deadlocked. The party is fortunate in having available many able men to choose from; it is one of those times when problems have produced men capable of dealing with them. The Republicans can name strong nominees for both places on the ticket and still have available a surplus of strong leadership to back them up in the job they ultimately will have to take over as itself.

The Best Price Control

RENEWAL of wartime price, wage and rent controls is being appraised variously, depending on what axes the commentators are grinding. But experience has made one thing about wartime control of living costs plainer than it was at the outset of the war.

The ultimate source of control is not legislation but abundance. All the laws congress could have passed by working night and day since Pearl Harbor could not have held down the general price level as well as it has been held down, unless most of the things in demand had been generally available when and where they were wanted. The worst breakdowns have occurred where acute shortages developed; price control simply vanished in the presence of that condition.

It has been demonstrated that the only reason black marketing in the United States continues the exception, instead of the rule, is the fact most things can be purchased with no special trouble in the ordinary process of marketing.

It will be argued in a political connection this year that the government did or did not regulate prices; it is a potent talking point both ways. The fact is, the government had relatively little to do with it. The main secret of success so far has been enough production in the past and present to avert the panic which robs money of value and brings runaway inflation.

Whatever Became Of Hitler?

TABULATORS who keep track of such things point out that the Germans, who have much on their minds these days, have heard no cheering word from Hitler since Jan. 30, though there has been no dearth of suitable occasions for the people's fuehrer to exercise his undoubted genius for needling them with fresh enthusiasm.

Hitler's long absence from the speaking stands and microphones is of interest chiefly as a suggestion that the last and most potent symbol of dictatorship is all but washed up and hung out to dry. Mussolini, who also fell strangely silent just before he was obliged to scurry before the storm, is mumbling to himself somewhere—no one cares where. Hitler, who could have been done away with months ago for all the world knows about him, probably will be heard from again, but it won't be important.

The G.O.P.'s Odds

There's A Tide Swinging To The Party, All Right, But Whether It Will Reach Full Crest Is Question

BY MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, June 24 — On Monday the Republicans meet in national convention at Chicago. They have been out of power for 12 years. This is the party's longest period out of power since it came into existence 88 years ago. (Once the Democrats were out of power longer, 16 years between 1897 and 1913.)

It is not merely that the Republicans' period out of power has been unprecedentedly long. During these 12 years the party reached a lower estate, in several respects, than any major party for generations.

In one presidential election—1936—it carried only two states. At one time during the period, in 1937, it had the smallest representation in the house of representatives that either party ever had—only 89 Republicans out of a total of 435, approximately one out of five.

Such low estate of a party that had been a major one ordinarily would have portended death. It may be said reasonably that no major political party in American history ever reached so low an estate and survived.

THE fact is, during part of the period, death of the Republican party was expected by not a few persons — some with regret, some with satisfaction.

Columns of this newspaper could be filled with quotations from persons who, between 1933 and 1937, said the Republican party was dead, and waited only to be buried.

Not only did they say the Republican party was dead. With it, they said, went the thing the Republican party symbolized — the philosophy of individualism, and the so-called capitalist economic system.

A phrase, "the new era", was common. President Roosevelt spoke of the "new order" rising, he said, out of the ruins of the old. It was said that President Hoover would go down in history with two distinctions, both somber — he would be known as the last Republican president and as the symbol of a dying order.

It was during those years, from 1933 to 1937, that Mr. Hoover, in private life, strove passionately with word and pen, in addresses, magazine articles and books, to make America see the virtues of individualism, the perils of the collectivism which threatened to supplant it.

That patient and laborious work of public education, carried on at a time when Mr. Hoover was in the shadow of defeat, his quiet valor and steady faith—it is this, and the success that attended it, that will be Mr. Hoover's real distinction in history, rather than the somber distinctions which some assigned to him.

IF THE descent of the Republican party into low estate was unprecedented, remarkable also has been its resurgence. In 1936 the Republicans had only eight governors—today they have 26. In 1937 they had only 17 senators—today they have 37. In 1937 they had only 89 members of the house; today they have 212.

These figures commonly are accepted as a political portent. It is said that this rise in Republican strength will go on to full tide; that it means the election of a Republican president next November.

It is true that a political tide, once it gets clearly under way, goes on to fulfillment. It is true that the increase in the Republican tide during the last six years is a strong portent of Republican success next November.

It is a strong portent, yet not absolutely a certain one. While political tides always go on to fulfillment, they sometimes are interrupted—interrupted, though not turned back.

A tide may take longer to come to fullfillment than is suggested by its early stages. It is at least possible that the present Republican tide, instead of electing a Republican president this year, may not do so until 1948.

THAT a tide may be interrupted —though not turned back — is shown by the history of this present Republican one.

The present tide began in January and February, 1937, and the cause was two steps taken by the new deal administration — President Roosevelt's bill to change the Supreme Court and the administrations' attitude toward sit-down strikes.

The Republican tide set in. By the time of the congressional elections in November, 1938, it was so strong that the Republicans almost doubled their membership in the house, rising from 89 to 169.

So great a rise was interpreted as meaning surely that the Republicans would win the presidential election of 1940. But the war approached, interrupting the tide. Mr. Roosevelt was reelected by a comparatively narrow margin of the popular vote.

It is possible for something like that to happen again this year. Some aspect of the war may cause the people to feel they prefer to keep Mr. Roosevelt in the White House, and completion of the Republican tide, by election of a Republican president, may wait until 1948.

G. I. Dog Tags

DALLAS, Tex. — Through his "dog tags" ye shall know him. Or can you read an army serial number?

Those numerals that look as if an adding machine ran away with itself mean more than meets the civilian eye.

One soldier may look just like all the others in olive drab, but his dog tag is his plea of individuality.

The numbers assigned to every member of the armed forces tell how he entered the army, through which service command, whether an officer or enlisted man, if he served in the last war and if he was in the army before World War II.

The rookie soldier learns to snap out his ASN as quickly as his own name.

It is stamped on his bags, clothes, appears with his name on all army records, is typed for furloughs and passes and must be used with his signature when he marks "free" on his letters.

Numbers first were issued to enlisted men Feb. 8, 1918. Officers were numbered after World War I, assigned on the basis of rank and longevity, and were issued chronologically as the man entered service.

During the war photographs had been used unsuccessfully for overall identification.

By 1940, when the selective service fish bowl was dusted off and pressed into use again, the numbers had lengthened into seven digits.

The balance of the seven-digit numbers were reserved for the regular army and eight-digit numbers were installed to take care of the great influx of men needed for a wartime army.

Under the new system if the first digit is a numeral 1, example 18022432, it means the soldier enlisted in the army.

If the series begins with 2, example, 20244887, the soldier entered service through the national guard.

The numeral 3 as the first digit is found most often as it means the soldier was inducted through selective service.

In cases where a soldier's first digit is preceded by the letter R, it indicates he was in the army during World War I, example, R-40759.

The second digit indicates the service command where the soldier entered, example, 38462420, showing the Eighth service command.

Officer numerals are preceded by a letter. "N" would identify the officer as a member of the army nurse corps.

"L" indicates an officer in the Women's Army Corps.

"O" distinguishes the other commissioned officers. "W" stands for warrant officer and "T" means flight officer, a rating equivalent to warrant officer.

Officers of the regular army have serial numbers through five digits. The national guard and reserve officers are marked with six digits, while U. S. Army officers have seven-digit numbers.

Enlisted personnel in the WAC precede their ASN with the letter A, example, A-948593. The first digit indicates the service command in which the WAC enlisted.

Numbers first were issued to army nurses in June, 1920, when they were given ratings. Their numbers contain six digits, the first being 7.

An army nurse's number would read like this: N-734233. The digits "34" indicate she went into the service from the Eighth service command, that block of numbers having been issued to the service command by the war department.

In the largest army in our nation's history, there would be endless confusion without the identifying numbers provided by army service forces.

Without his number, Pvt. John J. Jones might be any one of several hundred soldiers. But that 3827—assigned to him and him alone—means he will get the ever important mail from home correctly and on time.

There Are Two Sides

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

SOME men contend that as there are two sides to every question, they see both sides. Usually they have mastered the art of so stating their own side—as to give the impression of being impartial, unbiased, objective and restrained.

Of course, there are intellectual dodos who have no side. They are passionless creatures who are swept by the winds of public opinion. They pursue trends and switch and trim and hop on band wagons.

They watch closely for the attitudes of those whom they seek to please and change their patterns according to the current fashions. They never remember what they believed or said a year ago for, having no convictions, they are not troubled by conscience.

Their faith is the Gallup poll and it is the limit, as well, of their intelligence.

I like controversy.

I suppose the search for truth by dispute is a matter of habit and training. When I was a young fellow on the East Side of New York, every street corner and square was an open forum where man and boy, we argued every subject from Congressman Goldfogle to Aristotle and God.

A fellow learned, in that environment, to stand his ground against the mob and to fight for what he believed to be true in the face of ridicule and even humiliation.

There was no currying favor in that atmosphere because the poltroon soon was discovered and was hissed and booed and driven to tears. And the liar was up against an encyclopaedic memory that could quote statistics and cite chapter and verse.

WHAT is the value of newspapers, magazines, the radio, universities, books and preachers unless it is to search for and achieve even an approach to the truth?

Here we have been nearly four years at war and during that whole period I have been asking: What are our war aims? The unity singers first said that we were fighting for the Atlantic Charter; then it was the Four Freedoms; then it was unconditional surrender; then it was extinction of the German and the Japanese. Now what is it?

The real answer is that there has been no genuine, full controversy over our foreign policy, or the conduct of our war, since we got into it. The so-called isolationist-internationalist discussion was so much wind.

There are no isolationists in the United States. Therefore, no one established an isolationist premise. There never has been an isolationist position in this country—never in its long history.

In fact, anyone who will take the trouble to look it up fully will discover that prior to our entrance into this war as an ally of Great Britain, the most prolonged and sustained effort toward internationalism occurred in the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations when Hughes, Kellogg and Stimson were secretaries of state—and their achievements were thrown overboard by Franklin D. Roosevelt when he became president.

In fact, the torpedoing of the London economic conference by Roosevelt gave the green light to intensified nationalism in every European country and strengthened Hitler's position within Germany.

WHAT this country needs during the next four months is plenty of controversy. Let's take the truth out of the moth balls of propaganda and see what has happened.

The unity criers will, of course, object. They will say that all this is an interference with the conduct of the war and they will raise the image of a commander-in-chief whose mind is being diverted from the maps and charts of battle.

Actually, soldiers run a war. Lincoln fussed around with a civilian-managed war until he nearly lost it. Then Grant was given the authority to run a soldier's war and he won it.

The commander-in-chief in the American concept of military operations directs policy, not operations.

If Marshall, Eisenhower, King and Arnold have to ask a civilian president how to manage this war, we are a disorganized people. The real business of the civilians is to take care of the non-military side of the war, the principal phase of which is foreign policy.

It is precisely there that this country now needs a powerful controversy to get at the facts that we may know precisely where we have arrived.

Political 'Block-Busters'

By JACK STINNETT

WITH politicians beginning to think of almost everything in terms of the November elections, they now are starting to wonder openly if the administration isn't supplying the opposition with a few political blockbusters in the handling of foreign policy.

Actually, only history and the opening of a few files that wartime secrecy now keeps closed will make it possible to evaluate the administration's moves.

But, unfortunately, history can be weighed only in perspective and those files aren't likely to be opened between now and November.

This is a rather surprising swing of the political pendulum. A few months ago opponents of the President were so uncritical of this country's foreign policies that their political advisers were cautioning them not to broach the subject at all. Their idea was to make the fight for the presidency on purely domestic issues.

Then these things happened:

1.—More than a handful of the Irish were stirred up by our demands that Axis diplomats, accused of having an eye on the invasion and both ears to the ground, be tossed out of Eire.

2.—Sweden, Turkey, Spain and several other countries were threatened with economic warfare if they continued selling war supplies to the Axis.

3.—A Polish-American Roman Catholic priest was permitted to visit Russia, where he was lionized almost as much as if he had been a personal representative of the government, and anti-Communist Poles and Catholics reacted immediately and vigorously.

4.—There was some outspoken criticism on handling of recognition of the new government in Bolivia and some major grumbling that all wasn't as well as it might be with our "good neighbor" policy.

5.—Troubles with Gen. Charles de Gaulle and the French Committee of Liberation neared their climax on D-day and became so muddled that few of our better foreign policy observers could reach any unanimity on the subject other than that it should not have been permitted to happen.

6.—Popular Finnish Minister Procope and his staff were asked to leave the United States only a few days after Finland announced it was earmarking funds it has in this country for another payment on its war debt.

As to the right or wrong in these moves, leave that to time and the experts.

It still remains that most of them are debatable on the facts now known. And there is no doubt that a good many voters' toes have been trod upon.

Administration opposition knows and hasn't wasted any time, taking advantage of it.

Congress, when in session, is always the most readily available spring board and none of the above openings were public a day or so before anti-Roosevelt members were spilling criticism all over the Congressional Record.

Politicians here, on both sides of the fence, now are wondering if the administration may not have angled itself into a spot where it will have to defend its handling of certain foreign policies at least.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Why, Doctor!

A CHICAGO doctor, the new president of the American Medical association, says the vitamin is being overdone. The people of America couldn't be sick enough to need all the vitamin pills that are being made and sold every year, he declares.

• • •

The doctor doesn't belittle some very swell work being done by vitamins A, B, C (and so on down the alphabet), but he says it is time to halt excessive claims. We are with the medico. Too many claims are being made that vitamins will do everything up to and including the reconditioning of a hair sofa, the elimination of bird shot wounds and the lifting of fallen arches.

• • •

"Try a bottle of this remarkable pale ale tonight," says the radio voice, "and get these important vitamins that will cure general debility, cross-eyes, low blood pressure, measles and cigaret breath."

• • •

"Do you sometimes feel a little below par?" says another air wave pleader. "Are there moments when you are not the life of any gathering? Rush out now and buy a load of McSwiffey's bread, so full of vitamins that you never agan will know what it is to feel off form."

• • •

You no sooner swallow that one than an announcer shouts: "Begin wolfing these remarkable gumdrops today! Full of vitamins A, B, C, D, and E; they will put you in such shape that you never will know a day's illness!"

• • •

Then to top if off comes one of those jingles:

Would you be a fine American—
A credit to the land?
Buy Superdooper Nuttybars,
And chew to beat the band!

• • •

It's being overdone to a point where thousands of Americans who really need vitamins get sore at the very mention of them.

• • •

Elmer Twitchell thinks there is a fortune in it for the maker of any American product who will go on the air with the simple statement to the unpitied audience:

"I offer you this product with no claim whatever except that it is the best I know how to produce. I'm not quite sure myself just what health-giving properties are in it. All I want the public to know is that whatever vitamins may be involved are entirely accidental."

• • •

But Mr. Twitchell may be biased. He fell badly for a brand of animal crackers sold to him on the representation that it had a vitamin that would eliminate buckteeth, cure a charley horse and add 20 yards to his drive.

I had conceived my masterpiece
That would have rung the bell,
Its title flashed across my brain

Cherries

By Truman Twill

IF cherries weren't red, no one would make a fuss over them. No fools would warble, "Cherries are ripe, cherries are ripe, tra-la!" It wouldn't matter whether she could bake a cherry pie. Billy boy, one way or the other. Custard would do just as well. Or apple.

Men with a thousand more important things to do couldn't be persuaded to teeter on ladders and swing like apes from limber limbs in suicidal attempts to reach the reddest cherries that grow in the highest part of the over-grown cherry trees that never get trimmed until suckers beat them up in pursuit of a few quarts of fruit.

Children wouldn't break their arms and legs falling out of cherry trees and there would be no more of those incredible stories about old gaffers, who have been dodging the reaper the last 10 years, getting so steamed up over cherry-picking that they climbed trees, slipped and broke every bone in their bodies.

No one would have the brass to suggest to a neighbor that he match life and limb against the elements for the sake of getting something for nothing; namely, a bucket of fruit for no common sense. And no neighbor would stand by while his intelligence was being insulted.

When the birds moved in to take charge of the cherry crop, no one would object. The birds would be welcome to it, even down to the robins, always at their greediest worst during cherry season.

There just wouldn't be any cherry season. Things would move along past the time for sweet cherries to get ripe, past the time for the sour cherries, and nothing would happen, except that all cherry blossoms would be yanked off in the spring to be admired briefly before getting carted off to the trash heap before any harm came to them.

There would be no endless hours of popping cherry stones, watching for worms, warning kids about the stomach ache caused by too many cherries and slaving over a hot stove. There would be no accidents to cherry pickers, no trails of cherry juice, no screams of pain as another victim got his eyes full of the stuff.

All these things would be unknown, as also would be cherries for dessert, cherry conserve, cherry jam and cherry jelly. There would be no cherries to eat off the stem, no cherries to pull off loaded branches and admire while they gleam in the sun. There would be no cherry pie, an omission that might make life seem not worth living.

But if the things weren't red, they'd never make a mental case, who gets into a psychiatric snit on anything past the fifth rung of a ladder, crawl 25 feet straight up in the air to get his hands on them. On second thought, and with cherry juice breaking out of every pore in a cold sweat—Eeek!

Noteworthy Events In District Churches—

Convention Of Christian Endeavor To End Sunday

Fellowship Dinner, Song Event Set For Tonight

Delegates to the Ohio Christian Endeavor convention neared the end of their four-day session here, with a Fellowship dinner and program tonight, and a crowded Sunday schedule planned as the concluding events.

The banquet will be given at 6:30 in the Masonic temple with an informal program of music and brief addresses as a prelude to the song service at 8 in the First Methodist church when Dr. Bernard C. Clausen of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church of Cleveland will give the address.

Rev. Dan Packard of Steubenville will be toastmaster for the dinner, and Rev. Clair E. Beatty of Salineville will give the invocation. Special music will consist of xylophone selections by Marion Jane Woods.

Miss Borger To Be Soloist

The delegates then will assemble in the First Methodist church for the song service with Rev. Herbert Graham, Miss Ruth Herbst and Miss Sara Margaret Turk as leaders. Miss Sondra Borger will be soloist.

Dr. Clausen's address will follow and Rev. Carl W. Bormuth of near Lisbon will give the invocation.

An outdoor song service will follow on the Diamond at 9:30 with a large number of the delegates expected to participate.

Sunday's program will begin at 8 a. m. with a Communion service with Rev. John G. Snyder of Willoughby in charge, after which delegates will attend Sunday school and church with their denominations.

Rev. Hahn To Preach

Rev. Harvey C. Hahn will be the speaker for the morning service in the host church.

Installation of state Christian Endeavor officers will take place during the service tomorrow at 2:30 in the host church. Nomination and election of the officers were to take place this afternoon at the concluding business session.

Endeavors of Belmont county will give the invocations, and a girls' ensemble will provide the music. Speakers will be Dr. Paul W. Gauss of Youngstown, Rev. D. Park Chapman of the First Christian church will give the benediction.

Regular Service To Be Held

A regular Sunday night Christian Endeavor program will be held tomorrow night at 6:30 in the First Methodist church, followed by a song service at 7:30, and an address by Rev. Franklin H. Minck of Akron, followed by a consecration service with Rev. James Thomas in charge which will wind up the convention.

Today's program began with a breakfast for the convention leaders, then a series of conferences on some 25 subjects, followed by the main business session this afternoon, including reports of the resolution, awards, place and nomination committees, and the election of next year's officers.

Rev. R. H. Mueller, D.D., of Cleveland, general secretary of the board of Christian education of the Evangelical church, was the principal speaker for the program Friday night at the host church, which climaxed a day-long series of conferences on a variety of topics. A meditation also was held for the men in the services.

'Expendable' Is Topic

Rev. Mueller discussed the topic, "They Were Expendable," and declared that the sacrifice of life today, expendable by military necessity, was caused not by God's will but by man's choice.

He then called for those present "to press for the time when men would not lay down their lives on the altar of war, but instead would give them in the service of Christ's kingdom."

He pointed out Christian Endeavorers have the choice of "expending their lives in three fields—teaching, evangelism and missions."

Preceding the address, a girls' quartet consisting of Miss Gretchen Arner, Ruth Allison, Doris Jean Goodman and Gertrude Vogt sang, with Miss Kay Martin as accompanist.

Junior Group Meets

Junior Endeavorers also held sessions yesterday morning and this morning in simultaneous meetings.

Some 800 delegates have attended the convention.

They will begin returning to their homes tomorrow night or Monday, according to Frederick Bright, East Liverpool convention chairman.

DEDICATION OF HONOR ROLL WILL BE SUNDAY

Members of the Newell church on Sunday will dedicate an honor roll containing the names of 40 members of the church and Sunday school who are with the armed forces.

The service will be held from in front of the church following the 10:45 a. m. worship service. The speakers will be Rev. Anna B. Potter, the pastor, and Rev. Charles Stevens of East Peoria, Ill., who is visiting in Newell. There will be vocal solos and other special music.

The honor roll, of wooden construction, stands in front of the church. The board is covered with a plate glass to protect it against the weather. An invitation has been extended to the parents, wives, brothers, sister, children and other relatives of the men in the service.

Rev. Stevens also will be guest speaker at the worship service at 7:30.

He hath done all things well; He maketh both the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak—Mark 7:37.

GUESTS TO TALK TO METHODISTS

Pastors Are Attending Area Conference At Lakeside

Visiting speakers will occupy the pulpits in most East Liverpool and Wellsville Methodist churches Sunday, as pastors are attending the annual meeting of the North East Ohio conference at Lakeside.

A speaker here for the convention of the Ohio Christian Endeavor union will preach tomorrow morning in the First Methodist church, in place of Rev. C. W. Cooper, D.D., the pastor.

Miss Louise B. Rose, East Liverpool soprano, will sing "Hear, O Heaven, Give Ear, O Earth". The choir will be heard in an anthem, "The Voice in the Wilderness" (Scott). Numbers of Miss Bernadine Williamson, organist, will be "The Bells of St. Ann de Beaupre" (Russell), and "Air from Symphony in D Minor" (Franck).

There will be no meeting of the youth society this week because of the Christian Endeavor convention which is scheduled to close Sunday night.

In the absence of Rev. Robert Tarr, who is attending the Methodist conference at Lakeside, Rev. G. Lynn Pugh, pastor of the Firestone Park Church of Christ, Akron, will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. at the Orchard Grove Community Methodist church. John Coleman will be the soloist and Miss Madge Porter the organist. The choir will give several selections under the direction of Charles Price, chorister.

Mr. Gaston is in the armed forces and Mr. Curry is serving as a Red Cross field director. They will be installed in absentia.

Dr. Canfield will give the installation service, using as his theme, "What of Your Future?" He will discuss "Spiritual Values First" at the 7:30 p. m. Sunday worship period.

10 Churches Unite In Series Of Outdoor Services At Night

Eight downtown and two suburban churches will unite for a series of 10 Sunday night outdoor services to begin July 2.

The services, under the auspices of the East Liverpool Ministerial association, will be held on Jackson st. in front of the Calvary Methodist church. In case of rain or wet weather they will be held in the Calvary church.

Churches participating in the 10 services are the First and Calvary Methodist, First Baptist, First United Presbyterian, First Church of Christ, St. John's Lutheran and St. Stephen's Episcopal churches, all in the downtown district, and the Orchard Grove Community Methodist, and the Emmanuel Presbyterian churches, in the suburbs.

The First Presbyterian church will not participate in the union services during July, but will join in those arranged for the four Sundays in August and the one in September.

According to the tentative plans, out-of-town speakers, men prominent in religious activities, will be brought to East Liverpool for the outdoor series. The speaker for the first service on July 2 will be Dr. M. M. Pearce, president of Geneva college at Beaver Falls, while Rev. Clark W. Cooper, pastor of the First Methodist church, assisted by the choir, will preside.

By the plan for the services, music will be furnished by the choirs of the visiting churches. The choir of the First Methodist church will sing for the initial service.

Rev. C. Alex Jones, pastor of the First Baptist church will be song leader for the union services. The pastors of the cooperating churches will take their turns as the presiding officials for each service. There will be special musical features, including instrumental selections for each.

The steps and landing in front of the church will be used as a rostrum for the choir and the speakers. Arrangements have been made for the use of 300 folding chairs, which will be placed on the street and sidewalks in front of the church for the use of the worshippers. Jackson st., between East Fifth and East Sixth sts. will be closed to automobile traffic during the services.

The committee in charge of the union services consists of Rev. Jones, Rev. John F. Kindsvatter and Rev. Clyde H. Canfield, D.D.

CLUB LOSES COURT BID TO BLOCK BINGO RAIDS

By The Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, June 24 — Ohio's amended gambling law, which does not prohibit bingo games unless they are operated for personal profit, is in conflict with the state constitution, Common Pleas Judge David G. Jenkins held here Friday when he refused to grant a temporary restraining order preventing police from halting games conducted by Disabled American Veterans.

Judge Jenkins gave his opinion at an informal hearing filed by the club after police halted games and arrested Robert Cross Taylor, the alleged operator.

Atty. James S. Cooper, representing the D. A. V., contended bingo is not a lottery. Judge Jenkins gave no opinion on this.

Cooper said the next step will be to file for a permanent injunction and present evidence at a formal hearing.

Are You A Religious "Chance Taker?"

God warns us to take no chances relative to the salvation of our souls. The inspired apostle said: "Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your callng and election SURE" (2 Pet. 1:10). In the preface to his biography of Jesus, Luke said: "It seemed good to me also . . . to write unto thee in order . . . that thou mightest know the certainty of those things, wherein thou hast been instructed" (Luke 1: 3, 4).

One of the greatest needs of the present day in the religious world is that men should "KNOW the CERTAINTY of those things" wherein they have been instructed. Men should "prove all things; hold fast that which is good" (1 Thes. 5:21). In no sphere of human endeavor is it greater folly to run risks than in religion. There is absolutely nothing to be gained, but everything may be lost. It is indeed a wise man who culls all chance-taking from his religion and rests upon the solid ground of Bible certainty!

Upon investigation you will find that one of the fundamental differences between the churches of Christ and the churches of men is that the former are unwilling to run risks in matters capable of vitally affecting the salvation of men's souls. It is not our purpose to be narrow-minded in religious matters, but it is our purpose to be unquestionably right. It is not a matter of selfishness in religion; it is that we are unselfish enough to leave aside all party whims, names, ways and doctrines and to stand with all others upon the firm ground of Scriptural safety.

This describes our attitude relative to the name we wear. No one doubts that it is right to wear the name "Christian," and that it is a sufficient designation for the man of God to be all God wants him to be. (See Acts 11: 26; 26:28; 1 Pet. 4:16). No one takes any chance of being wrong who wears only the name "Christian" as a religious designation, because it is authorized by the Scripture. Why should anyone wish to go beyond the Scripture and take chances by wearing names not approved by God's Word?

The same is true concerning our attitude toward baptism. No one doubts that it is right to be baptized, that it is taught of God and commanded by Christ and his apostles. (Mk. 16:15, 16; Matt. 28:19, 20; Acts 2:38, 10:48). The man who teaches you that you can go to heaven without obeying that command is the one who would have you take a chance on HIS being right, rather than God.

Relative to the act performed in baptism, no one denies the validity of immersion. All denominations admit that immersion is Bible baptism. All the doubts and questions concerning the action of baptism hang over "sprinkling" and "pouring." Churches of Christ teach that "We are buried with him in baptism" (Rom. 6:4) and occupy ground of undisputed safety.

The principle of safety determines our attitude toward instrumental music in worship. We know that since Jesus taught us to sing his praises, we are right in singing (Col. 3:16; Eph. 5:19; 1 Cor. 14:15). But since Jesus did NOT teach us to use any other kind of music than vocal, why should we take the risk of offending Him and losing our souls just because we happen to want mechanical music in the worship of God? God forbids altering His word in any way (Deut. 4:2; 5:32; Rev. 22:18, 19).

We dare not forsake the ground of certain safety in religion for the many corruptions found in man-made denominations about us. If the safety of the New Testament position means anything to you or holds any excellence in your mind over the ways of men, the church of Christ has something for you. You will find the church of Christ ready always to give you chapter and verse in God's Word for every element of its religion, whether it be name, doctrine, plan of salvation, organization or worship.

DEATHS HIT 133 FROM TORNADO; DAMAGE GREAT

Storm Rips West Virginia, Pennsylvania And Part Of Maryland County of the dead and injured from the ruins.

The storm was described by A. D. Johnson of McKeesport as a "white, whirlwind shape" that came roaring across the city, then leaped the Youghiogheny river and traveled south.

It is estimated at least 100 homes in the McKeesport area were demolished completely and hundreds more unroofed or damaged.

'Regular Kansas Twister'

Don Potter, Monongahela (W. Va.) power company manager, said:

"It was a regular Kansas twister, funnel-shaped with limbs and sticks floating around in its middle. It was a greasy green color and lazy looking. The time was 8:51 p. m. That was verified later because a lot of clocks stopped at that time."

Hardest hit Pennsylvania communities outside the Pittsburgh area are the mining towns of Clarksville and Chartiers in Green county, approximately 40 miles south of here.

Virtually every house in Chartiers, visited only two weeks ago by a mine explosion and fire that killed six men, was leveled. There are eight known dead there, and between 40 and 50 homes destroyed.

"The destruction in Chartiers is almost unbelievable," according to Stanley Granger, collector of internal revenue at Pittsburgh, who lives in nearby Waynesburg. He added: "The entire town appears to have been leveled."

State Guardsmen Called

More than 400 are believed injured in Shinnston and three surrounding counties and ambulance drivers, frantically trying to get over blocked roads up Shinn's run, near Shinnston, said they had reports of bodies along the roads.

Upon orders of Gov. Matthew M. Neely, four companies of West Virginia state guardsmen went into the devastated area.

Power was supplied to the stricken area by emergency service from Parkersburg, but nearby Clarksburg, West Virginia's fourth largest city, had no power until well into the morning.

DISASTER TAK E2 P T D

Corridors of one of Clarksburg's hospitals were filled with injured sent there after emergency treatment at Shinnston. Scores also were sent to Fairmont, 15 miles north. The Shinnston Methodist church was set up as an emergency aid station.

A survey in West Virginia showed more than a score of people reported missing and indicated the death list may exceed 100 in the mountain state alone.

Reports were slow coming in from isolated communities, paralyzed by failure of facilities and with highway arteries clogged with trees and debris.

58 Bodies Recovered At Shinnston

The storm apparently hit hardest at Shinnston, where 58 bodies were reported recovered.

The army helped at various places, soldiers going on duty to aid victims in both Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The storm missed the more populous places, striking smaller communities and farm and coal mine country.

School Supt. A. V. Upton of Harrison county, West Virginia, returning home after an outing at a suburban lake, heard his small son call to him on the approach of the storm:

"Daddy, there's a tornado!"

Upton, amazed, told his son, "That couldn't be in West Virginia," adding:

"But there it was, a long funnel over the hills several miles from us."

Reaching Shinnston shortly after the storm, Upton said:

"It cut a path possibly a quarter-mile wide, leveling all the houses it touched and threw some of them into the West Fork river. There were reports of one house in the stream with seven bodies in it. Many of the bodies recovered were badly mangled.

$1,600 Blown Away

"I'm afraid there are at least 60 dead in the area around Shinnston and nearby. Rescue work is under control. There are two national guard outfits, the Red Cross, civilian defense and state police on the job."

Tragedy paid its last call at the home of Stephen Barnish in Chartiers, Pa. Barnish was killed in the mine explosion here a couple of weeks ago and last night his widow and two children were killed by the storm.

At Versailles borough, Pennsylvania, a woman reported $1,600 in currency, which she had withdrawn from a bank yesterday, blew into the air along with the wreckage of her home. Rescue workers retrieved about $1,400 and gave it back to her.

At Waynesburg, Pa., surgeons worked in an emergency hospital by flashlight to ease the pain and suffering of victims in the darkened city. All electric power was shut down there last night.

Hospitals Present Tragic Scenes

Glen Arnold, who was driving on a road near Clarksville, Pa., reported:

"I saw 14 dead at Clarksville. We carried them into the union hall. There were more than 100 injured."

Hospitals presented tragic scenes. Hundreds of men, women and children filled the 325-room McKeesport hospital to overflowing.

Children cried and moaned. Some people lay on the floor, some sat up and others leaned against the walls—but nearly everybody had a bandage on. Nurses said they never saw anything like it.

By ambulance, commandeered cars and trucks the injured came to hospitals in the area.

War Plant Flooded

Several departments of one McKeesport war plant were reported flooded and were closed.

There were 167 patients in hospitals at Fairmont and Clarksburg alone, in addition to others in hospitals at Mannington, Philippi, Elkins and Grafton.

Meanwhile, a twister struck the little Maryland eastern shore town of Cambridge last night, injuring an estimated 35 persons and flattening several blocks of homes.

A Negro high school was cut virtually in half and two Phillips Packing Co. warehouses were razed.

Almost too thunderstruck to realize what had happened, hundreds of homeless men, women and children waited around in stricken communities until the dead, the dying and the injured could be cared for.

Meadowville, a little town in Barbour county, West Virginia, was pictured as "wiped off the map".

State police are making a foot-by-foot survey of the tornado's path in the search for bodies.

Plane Flies Medical Supplies

Soldiers from Elkins also moved into Shinnston and set up stations to help care for the maimed and search for the dead.

Maj. John J. Hurley of Washington, operations officer at Lockbourne air base near Columbus, O., flew 150 units of blood plasma and 200 cases of tetanus anti-toxin to storm-stricken Waynesburg Pa., early today, landing his mercy ship on a narrow strip lighted by the headlights of hastily-recruited automobiles.

He flew a two-engined training plane and was accompanied by Lt. William J. Ralston of New York and WAC Cpl. Kathleen Garby, a dispatcher at the air base.

Hurley said on his return that the narrow strip was set in a valley between 500-foot mountains and automobiles were called to light the field after the storm disrupted Waynesburg's electric current.

Farm Community Battered Near Ravenna

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 24—High winds swept northern Ohio Friday night, reaching their greatest intensity near Ravenna, where at least six persons were injured as a tornado-like storm hit the farm community of Yale.

Thousands of dollars worth of property damage were reported from Sandusky to Cleveland and southeast to the Pennsylvania border. Highway department crews are busy clearing roads of fallen trees, electric wires and debris.

The families of Otto Aberegg and Arthur Davis received minor injuries as the high wind toppled barns and knocked houses off foundations southeast of Ravenna. At Yale, the storm struck an area five miles long by a half mile wide.

Greater Cleveland police and firemen are busy clearing streets of fallen tree limbs and electric wires. In Newburgh Heights, a suburb, Fire Chief Theodore Przybylski reported three high tension wires carrying 11,000 volts each snapped with an explosion that shook the village. In Elyria and Sandusky other wind damage was reported, but no one was injured.

BOND PROMOTION TURNS TO SHOWS

Street Entertainments Due Tonight; Movies Monday

Gilberts and the Marshall and Carolina islands.

The evening show is scheduled from 6:30 until 9. The quota has been set at $30,000, the same as for the afternoon entertainment.

Ticket Demand Brisk

Meanwhile Bond issuing agencies report that the demand for theater tickets for the two movies Monday night has been unusually brisk.

The feature at the State will be Eddie Cantor's latest hit which will bring to the screen the usual "Eddie Cantor Lovelies". East Liverpool movie-goers also will have a chance to see their own Elaine Riley, who has a spot in the show.

The Columbian picture is a Cecil B. DeMille production, starring Lorraine Day and Gary Cooper.

The shows will be held for the one night only and no tickets will be issued at the box office.

The East Liverpool war loan committee meanwhile reported sales Friday of 202 more E, F and G bonds totaling $23,747.50. This brings the total sales of the $2,738,977 quota to $286,197.50, or enough to "finance the fight", for 381 of East Liverpool's 3,765 men and women now in the services.

'Long Way To Go'

"We still have a long way to go to reach our quota," Alvin Arner, city chairman, said today, "but East Liverpool has never failed yet and I feel sure it won't this time", he added.

An increase in sales is expected during the coming week as a house-to-house canvass under the chairmanship of C. P. Deemer gets into its full stride.

"Every wage earner in the city will be contacted to buy that extra Bond", Mr. Deemer said, and the indication is that the sales will meet with expectations.

The sales in actual cash have reached $24,668.75 toward the $464,321 quota.

American Legion post 70 is sponsoring the showing of pictures of actual battles at the citywide meeting Monday at 8 p. m. at the Beacom memorial when County Chairman Francis P. White and Rev. Archie Mackey and Mr. Clendenning, co-chairmen, will speak. No children under 15 will be admitted unless accompanied by their parents.

INVASION VETS TAKE IT EASY. The din of battle has died down and "Sougie" and Butts" take it easy aboard a coast guard craft. The two mutts, mascots on LCI's, went through the invasion of France without singeing a whisker. They're sitting on K ration cases waiting for chow time to arrive.

a 3,000-ton Allied landing vessel and a destroyer.)

A field dispatch from the British sector declared the German command is moving up reinforcements from deep within France and even is drawing on strategic reserves in Germany itself "to replace forces thrown into the beachhead area".

Clear, calm weather sped the flow of power into Normandy today from hundreds of landing craft and sky trains of Allied bombers roared over France.

The Allied Supreme command said another German divisional commander has been killed in the fighting. He was Gen. Salley of the 91st division.

Besides the 91st division, elements of the 243rd, 77th and 709th German divisions now have been identified in the peninsula trap.

Supreme headquarters said there are indications that only isolated pockets of German resistance are left on the eastern and western tips of the peninsula and these are being cleared up. The main force of the attack is being directed at the port itself.

In the La Haye du Puits sector, 24½ miles south of Cherbourg, American patrols found resistance has strengthened considerably.

At last reports the Germans had launched a counter-attack and a tank battle was raging between Ste. Honorine and Cuverville.

RAIDS

Crew members described the results as devastating.

Encountering only negligible anti-aircraft fire, and no German planes at all, the entire force of Marauders and escorting planes returned from the mission.

The daylight blow came after RAF Lancasters smashed at Nazi rail bottlenecks some 250 miles south of the Normandy fighting zone, and after Mosquitos struck rail yards at Lisieux, Vire, Dreux, Evreux, Veneuil and Mezidon, and downed two German planes over the beachhead.

The big British Lancasters blasted the yards at Saintes, north of Bordeaux, and at Limoges, thus maintaining for 36 hours the Allied campaign aimed at sealing off French rail lines choked with German reinforcements for the Normandy battlefront. Two heavy night bombers are missing from this operation.

Pilots raiding Saintes reported a big explosion in the middle of the attack and said it lasted at least four seconds.

Meanwhile, speedy British Mosquitos attacked Berlin and laid mines in enemy waters and heavy night bombers struck the Pas de Calais installations. The air ministry said six planes are missng from these operations.

The Germans' rocket bomb attack on southern England continued throughout the night and until after daylight. The droning, pilotless projectiles plopped down on various sectors in bigger batches than ever, although at less frequent intervals.

3,000 Sorties Flown

The RAF night attacks came after a series of daylight blows by American planes yesterday against the Pas de Calais rocket coast and communications hubs used by the Nazis. Three thousand sorties (individual plane flights) were flown in support of the land operations, despite unfavorable weather.

Supreme headquarters reported eight fighters and eight heavy bombers missing from yesterday's daylight operations, while at least 11 German planes were shot down, 10 of them in combat over the Caen-Evreux area.

RAF fighters played an important part in a tank battle yesterday, when eight rocket-firing Typhoons caught a concentration of German tanks moving into battle east of Caen and left at least 20 of them blazing.

Home Week In England

BAR HARBOR, Me.—When Col. Haskell H. Cleaves of Bar Harbor was hospitalized with an ankle injury in England, he began to wonder if it wasn't old home week. Three of his nurses were from Maine—and one was a fellow native from Bar Harbor.

Baker's Woes

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—A local baker's entire output of bakery goods was ruined here one day recently when the fumes from new asphalt penetrated his shop. The baker was quick to explain that the strictly rationed goods used for the day's production could not be released, either.

Feminine Aviation Students Design Special Clothes For Air Age; Plane Wardrobe Is Light, Non-Bulky

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Fashion Editor

TAILORED TAKEOFF: Lola Stewart, Stephens College student of Alabama City, Ala., models a winter shopping outfit designed by another student, Barbara Taylor, Dayton. Suit is brown wool broadcloth, minus furbelows. Girls plan clothes for post-war "runabout" flying, say bulky flying suits are unnecessary.

READY FOR ACTION is Susan Winkler, Vincennes, Ind., in an aquamarine aralac and spun rayon two-piece work suit designed by Beverly Sparks, College Station, Tex. Tapered trousers and sleeves are practical style notes. With it she wears new feminine flying helmet trimmed in brown leather, flattering as it is practical.

KNEE PANTS of watermelon red wool gabardine are slit to match sleeves of beige wool box jacket of this streamlined suit modeled by Dee Schuepbach, of Harlington, Texas, aviation student at Stephens college.

'Natural' Hazards Sour Private On Saipan

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands, June 16—(Delayed)—On the eve of the assault upon this island, a medical officer called members of a marine artillery unit together and warned them:

In the surf they must beware of sharks, barracuda, sea snakes, anemones, razor-sharp coral, polluted waters, poison fish and, of all things, giant clams capable of snapping on a man like a bear trap.

Ashore, the men must take precautions against leprosy, typhus, filiarisis, yaws, typhoid and paratyphoid fevers, dengue fever, dysentery, an assortment of skin and eye infections, saw grass or saber grass, a wide variety of insects, snakes and giant lizards.

At the conclusion of his lecture, the doctor asked if there were any questions. A private raised his hand.

"Yes?" queried the doctor.

"Sir," said the private, "why don't we let the Japs have the island?"

...S department, although not ... personally acquainted with the ... would like to express its ...mpathy to parents and sisters of the late Pfc. Donald L. Fetty, who died of typhus fever recently while serving his country in India.

"Duke", as he was known to close friends and followers of the diamond sport, was regarded as one of the top-flight backstops of the local Junior Baseball league, the Tri-County and Columbiana county loops.

He was started on his baseball career by Guy Digman, manager of the Riverview Florists, who said: "'Duke' was a good student of the game and one of the best boys I ever had the privilege of tutoring. He developed into one of the best amateur catchers in the city, and besides his all-around, consistently good performances behind the plate, hit the ball hard when swinging a bat."

"Duke" started and finished his short career with the Riverview Florists.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Fetty of Park rd., "Duke" entered the army Jan. 21, 1940 and served overseas for 27 months.

Petty Officer (1c) Fred Rindfuss, a rip-snorting back on the 1940 Potter eleven, is spending a well-deserved 30-day leave in the home of his sister, Mrs. Marie De Laney, Monaca st., after more than a year's service in the South Pacific.

The ex-Potter gridder who starred under former coach Joe Morbito, arrived Monday and immediately became engaged to Miss Margaret Skaleski, schooldays sweetheart. Miss Skaleski graduated with the class of 1942.

Petty Officer Rindfuss, assigned to the submarine division of the navy, will report to a base on the west coast at the expiration of his leave.

His brother, Joe, petty officer (3c), made the occasion a reunion when he secured a 30-day leave and arrived Wednesday in the home of his sister. Joe followed suit and became engaged to Miss Ruth Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde K. Smith of Morton st. Joe also has been in the South Pacific for more than a year.

TRIBE TOPS SOX, 5-1; AL REYNOLDS TO HURL

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 24—Allie Reynolds will be gunning for his eighth triumph of the season when he steps to the mound for the Cleveland Indians against the White Sox here today.

The young righthander, whose fireball pitching won 11 and lost 12 games for the Tribe last year, has a 7-to-6 record this season. He has dropped one contest to the Sox thus far—in last Sunday's doubleheader.

Al Smith turned in his first victory over the Chicagoans this season as the Tribe took a 5-to-1 game last night. He limited the Sox to four hits while the Clevelanders collected nine off Thornton "Lefty" Lee and Joe Haynes.

Lee was charged with the loss, and several of the runs were due to his wildness. In the fifth inning three walks, an error by Grey Clarke and a wild pitch accounted for two Indan tallies.

Buddy Rosar and Ray Mack, Tribe catcher and second baseman, respectively, were unable to reach Chicago for last night's game but will be in the lineup tonight.

RED SOX SEEK FOURTH WIN AT SALEM SUNDAY

Unbeaten Locals To Depart At 1 p. m.; Friday City Loop Tilt Rained Out

The East Liverpool Red Sox, unbeaten in three starts, will play their third straight game on foreign soil Sunday when they tangle with the Salem A. C. in the Quaker City.

Favorites Battle Way To Semi-Final Round Of Tri-State Net Play

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, June 24—More action was expected today as the Tri-State Tennis tournament moved into the semi-finals.

Toughest competition comes in the women's singles as Dorothy Bundy, Santa Monica (Calif.), National Clay Courts champion, meets Shirley Fry, Akron youngster who is seeded fourth in the tourney. Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, National champion, plays Mary Arnold of Philadelphia.

In the men's singles there were no indications that the Sunday finals would see any other than Francisco "Pancho" Segura, colorful Ecuadroean who now lives in Coral Gables, Fla., and Billy Talbert of Indianapolis face each other across the center court. Today, Segura meets Roland Mord of Cincinnati while Talbert goes against Jack McManis of Forest Hills, N. Y.

Results of yesterday's play:

Men's singles—Talbert defeated Leonard Schiff of Columbus, 6-1, 6-0.

Women's singles—Pauline Betz defeated Gloria Thompson of St. Louis, 6-2, 6-1.

Shirley Fry defeated Joanne Dunn of Des Moines, Ia., 6-2, 6-1; Mary Arnold defeated Catherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., 6-1, 6-0; Dorothy Bundy defeated Elaine Passow of Chicago, 6-2, 6-1.

Women's doubles—Arnold-Bundy defeated Wolf-Mary Donally of Forest Hills, N. Y., 7-5, 6-2; Betz-Thompson defeated Nancy Corbett of Chicago and Fry, 6-4, 6-2.

Men's doubles — Segura-Talbert defeated Gordon Naugle-William Anderson, both of Cincinnati, 6-1, 6-2.

Didriksen And Germain Meet For Western Open Golf Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN, Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, June 24—Well on the road to stardom, Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia met up today with an old-time traveler on the same road, Babe Didriksen Zaharias. They started out together in a scheduled 36-hole match for the Women's Western Open golf championship.

When the nation's top wartime golf tournament for women opened five days ago, these two appeared destined to hook up for the title and nothing deterred them along the way, although yesterday's matches required some superb pressure golf before they battled into the finals.

Dorothy has acquired enough tournament temperament not to be dismayed by the Babe's 250-yard drives. She also is a long hitter, but will depend chiefly on her deadly short game and bull's-eye putting to offset the 1932 Olympic champion's power.

Babe had trouble with torrid-putting Betty Jane Haemerle, 18-year-old St. Louis youngster, before winning, 2 and 1, yesterday — climaxing the victory by taking three holes in succession, the last with a 40-foot putt for a deuce.

After shooting a miserable 6-over-par 44, on the front line, Miss Germain rallied to win four of the next six holes to beat Jeanne Cline, 20-year-old Bloomington (Ill.) blonde, 4 and 3.

BIRDS' WINGS CLIPPED AS MUDHENS CLOSE IN

By The Associated Press.

It would do the Columbus Red Birds well in their unavailing chase after the pace-setting Milwaukee Brewers in the American Association to keep an eye on the battle for third place.

Their 2-to-1 setback by St. Paul last night dumped the Red Birds seven full games behind the high-flying Brewers, who twice nipped Indianapolis, 4-1 and 4-2, and left them only two games ahead of third-spot Toledo, a 7-to-1 winner over Minneapolis.

Fourth-place Louisville trimmed Kansas City, 7-2, to keep within two percentage points of the Mud Hens and a fraction more than two games out of second place.

The league is idle today as the four western clubs change scenery in their current eastern invasion.

PHILLY FANS TO HONOR CONNIE MACK ON AUG. 4

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—A city-wide move to commemorate Connie Mack's 50th anniversary as a big league manager is shaping up with appointment of a large committee headed by John C. Bell, lieutenant-governor of Pennsylvania.

Bert Bell, the chairman's brother and owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Football league, said at a preliminary meeting yesterday "the biggest crowd that has ever seen a baseball game in Philadelphia" would turn out for the event, scheduled to coincide with the Athletics-New York Yankees game Aug. 4.

With upward of 40,000 fans purchasing War Bonds for admission, the 27th running of the race will match William Zeigler Jr.'s Bounding Home, winner of the Belmont Stakes, against rivals that have shown both speed and stamina. Sparks New Yorkers In Climb To Third As A's Are Defeated, 5-1

Swipes 16th Sack, Drives In Three And Scores Other Two In Triumph; Browns Win, 5-0; Indians Scalp Chisox, 5-1; Bucs, Cards Battle To 5-5 Tie

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

George "Snuffy" Stirnweiss, second baseman of the New York Yankees, not only has filled the shoes of Joe Gordon to everybody's satisfaction, but is stealing everything in sight with them.

The former North Carolina university athlete was responsible for all his team's runs, besides pilfering his 16th base in 18 attempts, as the Yankees defeated the Philadelphia Athletes, 5-1, yesterday.

Yanks Back In Third

This victory enabled the world champions to climb back into a tie for third place with the Chicago White Sox.

Stirnweiss made three hits, including a double, drove in three runs and scored the other two. One of his tallies resulted from his steal in the third inning, and it was the 14th time he had scored by a steal.

Sigmund Jakucki hurled his second successive shutout against Detroit to give the league-leading St. Louis Browns a 5-to-0 victory. Vernon Stephens knocked in three runs for the Browns with a trio of hits.

Tribe Back In Sixth

Cleveland climbed into a three-way tie for sixth place with Philadelphia and Washington by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5-1.

The Senators dropped the Boston Red Sox to three games from first place by scoring an easy 7-to-1 triumph over Joe Cronin's men. Early Wynn registered his second straight win over the Bosox in five days.

Ed Head, sore arm Dodger hurler, pitched his fourth victory of the season without a defeat when he held the Philadelphia Phillies to two hits in blanking them, 2-0. The victory put Brooklyn into a third-place tie with the Cincinnati Reds.

Bucs Play 14-Inning Tie

St. Louis and Pittsburgh battled 14 innings to a 5-to-5 tie in a game called by curfew. East team used five pitchers. Twenty players were used by the Cards and 18 by the Pirates. Marty Marion, besides making four hits, handled 15 chances at shortstop without an error.

The Chicago Cubs handed the Reds their fourth straight defeat, scoring twice in the opening stanza to win, 3-1.

The Giants and Braves were not scheduled.

Reds Lose Fourth Straight; Cubs Win, 3-1

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, June 24 — Seems like everybody's mad at the Cincinnati Reds these days.

After an unprofitable road trip, which they ended with three defeats and only one victory in Pittsbnurgh, they opened up a home stay last night and the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs lashed them, 3-to-1.

The Reds did outhit the Cubs, 9-6, and Clyde Shoun pitched good ball with the exception of the first inning.

Although Cincinnati got men on base in every inning but the fifth and seventh, they were able to cash in only one scoring opportunity.

Roy Hughes, first Chicago batter in the first inning, bounced a single over Shoun's head. In an attempted sacrifice, Phil Cavarretta was safe at first as Shoun threw to second too late to catch Hughes. After Lou Novikoff sacrificed and both runners advanced, Don Johnson lined out a double to the centerfield wall to score two runs.

Andy Pafko hit a double in the sixth, went to third on a sacrifice and scored on a long fly.

The Reds' only tally came in the eighth. Gee Walker doubled and scored on Frank McCormick's single.

Bill McKechnie wasn't sure who his pitcher for today would be. He slept with three names in mind: Harry Gumbert, Jim Konstanty and Tomas De La Cruz. Cholly Grimm starts Paul Erickson.

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 24 — Folks who long have complained about the domination of boxing by New York (and Mike Jacobs) may do some real beefing about the new four state fistic "bloc". Officially there's nothing more than working agreements linking New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New Jersey, calling for recognition of suspensions and the like, but Chairman John J. Phelan of the New York commission hints he has some fresh ammunition to fire in his old feud with Abe Greene and the National Boxing association. And he may be right. Champions Gus Lesnevich and Red Cochrane live in New Jersey while Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Beau Jack, Bob Montgomery, Willie Pep and a few others have found they can make the most dough in those four states. California and Illinois are the only outsiders that count for much, Phelan points out. But he also admits these agreements always are being made—and broken to suit someone's convenience.

Today's guest star.

James D. Doyle, Cleveland Plain Dealer: " 'Anybody knows,' remarks ex-Jockey Felix Falloff, "that it is harder to pick the winner of a cheap race than the winner of a race where there's a lot of class goin'. And that's why I can't give out a solid word about this year's American league scramble.' "

Red Trautman's high school post-war committee has accepted an invitation from three state high school associations to provide some tutoring for baseball coaches in August. Lew Fonseca will be the American league's representative on the faculty and Pie Traynor the National's. While Cleo Shans was tussling with Ike Williams in the Garden last night, his kid brother, Jay D., was doing a little scrapping with the navy along the French coast—and J. D. likely felt the concussion from a couple of Williams' wallops. Creighton Miller, Notre Dame's All-America halfback, has been awarded a letter by Creighton university in Omaha for his "contribution in bringing fame to Creighton on the gridiron throughout the land." WILLIAMS SCORES TKO OVER SHANS IN TENTH

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 24—The lightweight fistic heights had a new boy today—Ike Williams, slugging Negro from Trenton, N. J.

The lanky lad punched his way into the picture last night in Madison Square Garden with a 10th-round technical knockout over Cleo Shans, stubby, weaving battler from Los Angeles. It was the first time in 79 bouts that Shans failed to finish.

Williams, at 136, had a one-pound edge over his foe, along with a decided advantage in reach and height. Shans forced the fighting all the way, trying to get in close where he's a devastating hitter with each hand, but Williams retreated and counter-punched his way to victory. It was a mauling, bruising, scrap all the way.

The Jersey scrapper has lost only one fight—to Bob Montgomery, who holds the New York version of the lightweight crown and who is now in the army. Among Williams' victims are Sammy Angott and Slugger White.

Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., won his 17th straight pro victory with a clean-cut six-round verdict over Tommy Mills of Hempstead, L. I.

U.S. PUTS 10 MILLION INTO ARMED SERVICES

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 24—The armed forces totaled 10,080,000 officers and enlisted personnel June 1 and requirements for young, able-bodied men are being met successfully, selective service disclosed Friday in anouncing that 159,000 of the 185,000 men inducted during May were between 18 and 25.

In a monthly draft report filed with the house military affairs committee, Col. Francis V. Keesling Jr. said that some men 30 and over are being taken each month, but they come from a group whose civilian activities "play absolutely no part in the war effort in the eyes of their local boards."

During May, he said, 26,000 men, or 14 percent of the total drafted, were between 26 and 37, the top induction age.

PRINTERS TRIP HARKERS, 5-2

Chester's Softball Leaders Beaten; Race Tightens

Chester Printing gave the league-leading Harkers a 5-to-2 jolting Friday to edge nearer second place in the Chester Softball loop. Herche, kept idle in its scheduled game with Taylor, Smith & Taylor because of wet grounds, lost ground.

The victory closed the gap between Chester Printing in third place and the runner up Herches to one game, while the setback lopped off a half game of Harkers' margin over Herche.

Bill McHenry, after allowing two runs in the first frame, blanked the leaders the rest of the distance. He allowed seven hits.

Ron Wright was charged with his second loss in seven starts when the Printers belted out nine safeties, one a circuit smash by Tom Dornan in the sixth with the bases empty. Dornan enters Kiski Prep at Salisburg, Pa., Monday for an eight-weeks summer course.

TEXAS MITE TO SEEK TENNIS FAME IN EAST

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 24—Bernard "Tut" Bartzen, tennis mite of the west Texas plains, is going east for the summer to get live competition.

Tut's opposition has been furnished mostly by a wall. Bartzen did pretty well with it, twice winning the Texas schoolboy championship, but he likes something that'll make him hustle.

Bartzen, ranked sixth nationally in scholastic tennis and 12th among the juniors, has been doing road work since February to get in sahape for seven eastern tournaments.

More Home Runs Wanted At Braves Field

By FRANK ECK
AP. Features Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Southpaw sluggers will be swinging from their heels and shooting for the right field barrier when they go to Braves field in Boston during the remainder of the season.

President Bob Quinn's Boston Braves weren't hitting many homers so Quinn decided to shorten the right field fence by 20 feet. It's now 320 feet from the plate to the fence along the foul line.

But then there's always the opposition to contend with.

14 Home Run Sluggers

Fourteen National league lefties, all with home run reputations, still have future dates at Braves field and the last out—or home run will be more important than ever.

The Chicago Cubs have four left-handed clubbers in Cpt. Phil Cavarretta, Bill Nicholson, the league leader last season with 29; Dominic Dallessandro and Ival Goodman.

Butch Nieman Chas. Workman Tommy Holmes Max Macon

The Cardinals big portside gun, of course, is Stan Musial, 1943 batting leader who hit 13 round trippers. Danny Litwhiler and Ray Sanders. The Brooklyn Dodgers' main hopes are Dixie Walker, who hit only five four masters last year but currently leads both circuits in hitting, and Augie Galan, nine last season.

Pirates And Reds Weak

Both the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds are weak in left-handed power hitters but nevertheless the Pirates have three regular lefties in Jim Russell, Frank Coleman and Johnny Barrett, Max Marshall is the Reds' best for distance though his record shows only 11 homers in two years.

Despite the shortened distance, Braves field has the fourth farthest right field wall in the National league. The Reds' Crosley Field is tops at 366 feet, followed by Chicago's Wrigley Field, 353, and Philadelphia's Shibe Park, 331. The Polo Grounds is shortest by a wide margin, being only 257 feet 8 inches from home plate.

Small Circuses Hit Pay Dirt At Nation's Crossroads Towns

By MURRAY POWERS

IN a score of smaller cities today horses are prancing, elephants are plodding, clowns are cavorting, the band fills the tent with gay music and the daring young men and women on the flying trapeze offer their best in a bag of thrills.

Its' all done without the glamor that surrounds the "big one" the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey circus that manages each season to monopolize the circus news in the big newspapers, on the press services and in the magazines.

But were it not for the scores of smaller circuses most of which you probably never heard of — many an American youngster never would know of the romance of the sawdust in the big top. The R. B.-B. & B. and the Cole Bros., half as large, have been the only two railroad circuses on the road in the last few years and they have been playing two- and three-day engagements, cutting down the number of cities visited.

Red Wheels Rolling

But the motorized, the truck or the mud shows — call them what you will — chug along from April to November, across the country and back, up and down. This is their year. This is the year for small circuses.

Murray Powers, Sunday editor of The Akron Beacon Journal, developed into a circus fan after meeting road-show people while serving on the paper's drama desk. He has vacationed with several shows; has friends on most of the others, really talks the language and has had several circus' yarns published. Powers says circus operations are the nearest thing to the newspaper business he's struck yet.

Last year showmen went back to winter quarters with their deep pockets filled with greenbacks. It was a marvelous season.

So what happened? Every showman who didn't own a circus but had ambitions and could round up a bankroll and the necessary canvas, rope, trucks, seats and other scarce equipment got himself a show.

And now they're out. Either this is going to be one of the circus' greatest financial years or the countryside is going to be peopled by stranded circuses. The early season reports favor the former — for already the shows are playing to capacity.

Good and Bad

The shows are good and bad in quality, just as some movies are good and some are poor. All of them have that traditional circus atmosphere, the big top, the sideshow, the midway, the cookhouse, the "grease joint" (midway eating spot), the opening spectacle, the wild west show. They all have horses and dogs and ponies, and most of them at least one elephant.

They load them into the trucks and trailers and move on to the next town, either immediately after their night performance or the next morning.

The performers live in their house cars. Some of the shows have "sleepers" for the band and other workers. Some have trailer compartments, three or four to a long truck-like trailer.

And virtually all are "brothers" shows. That's a circus tradition. Not more than two or three families of brothers own circuses. The Ringling family, of course. Russell Bros. was a family name. The little Mills Bros' circus actually has three brothers. But almost every show that started out this spring tacked "bros." on after its chosen name.

One In Railroad Class

One of last year's truck shows leaped into the railroad class this spring—Dailey Bros. down Texas way. Manager Ben Davenport bought 10 railroad cars to move his tented aggregation. Cole Bros., the other railroad show, is playing the midwest after opening at Louisville, Ky., winter quarters.

And now the motorized shows on the road include: Wallace Bros., in Ohio; Arthur Bros. on the west coast; Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros., in Oklahoma; Globe Bros., Ray Bros., Reo Bros., Bailey Bros., Hunt Bros., Sello Bros., Roy Bros., Monroe Bros., plus the brother-less titles of Cronin's Circus, the Bud and Dorothy Herbert, Hugo Bros., Sells-Sterling.

Where do they come from? Wallace wintered in York, S. C., Mills in Ashland, O., Beatty-Russell in Los Angeles, Kelly and Miller and Hugo in Hugo, Okla., Bailey in Jackson Mich. and Bud Anderson in Emporia Kas.

Along with the prospects of fine business the shows too face the prospect of labor shortages. Performers are helping "put it up and take it down," carrying properties, putting up seats, driving trucks But if those long lines of ticket buyers outside the red wagons are a daily occurrence, no one is going to worry about the work.

MIDWAY—Early birds throng the Beers-Barnes circus lot before the show.

Soak That Garden!

Invasions Of Insects Are Hot Weather Special

AP Features

NOW that hot weather is here to stay, Victory Gardens will need more attention. Heat multiplies garden trouble and growth slows up as insect invasions increase.

Even frequent rains are of little aid. Heat quickly evaporates water. And it's the man with the hoe who will get the best crops. This is important—cultivate frequently, loosen the soil constantly, don't let the crust cake.

Hoeing will curb pesky weeds which fight for underground water and food, and it will set up a dust mulch—urgently needed to prevent surface evaporation and retain moisture for plant use.

Good gardeners now will aid their crops with liberal applications of complete plant food and copious doses of water. Get the spray gun out. Keep fighting insects.

Up to now it's been enough to spray the garden with the hose, but it is time to turn the nozzle and increase the water's force. The plants need water that is cold, and plenty of it. Thorough watering cannot be done hurriedly.

Break up the soil's crust with a hoe, then play the water directly onto the soil, and let it soak away down, at least a foot deep.

Concentrate on one section of the garden one day, another the next, if the garden is big enough, and a third section the third day. Repeat the process, and if possible, see that the entire garden is soaked twice a week.

When you're tired out and have to look bright for a big evening date, pour a glassful of common salt in your bath.

KITCHEN KORNER

A good sandwich filler can be made by chopping raisins or prunes into peanut butter and thinned down with orange juice.

Milk stains may be removed from cotton and linen fabrics by washing.

To keep lashes long and thick, remove mascara thoroughly every night.

When using figs for cooking, wash in warm water, cut off stems with scissors and cut figs in small pieces.

The Gallup Poll Finds:

DEWEY RETAINS BIG G.O.P. EDGE FOR 24 STATES

Mountain, Pacific Coast And Southern Sections Favor Him For President

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 24—With the Republican party national convention due to convene Monday, Republican voters in the mountain, Pacific coast, and southern sections of the country continue to name Gov. Thomas E. Dewey their first choice for the G.O.P. presidential nomination.

The governor's popular support in these three sections, comprising a total of 24 states, is shown in surveys in which field reporters questioned those voters indicating a preference for a Republican president next year.

Results Of Survey

PACIFIC COAST SECTION
(Oregon, Washington, California)

Thomas E. Dewey	63%
John W. Bricker	6
Harold E. Stassen	6

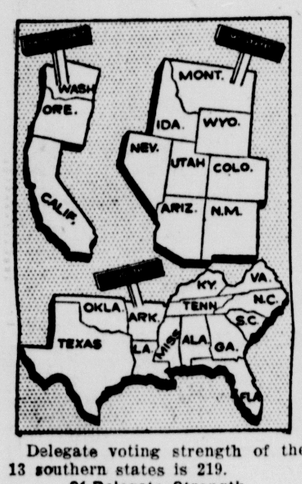
MOUNTAIN SECTION
(Mont., Ida., Nev., Utah, Ariz., Wyo., Colo., N. Mex.)

Thomas E. Dewey	54%
John W. Bricker	7
Harold E. Stassen	5

SOUTHERN SECTION
(La., Miss., Ala., Ga., Fla., Tenn., N. C., S. C., Ky., Va., Okla. Texas, Ark.)

Thomas E. Dewey	59%
John W. Bricker	10
Harold E. Stassen	6

In today's survey, a total of 25 percent of the vote in the Pacific coast section, 34 percent in the mountain section, and 25 percent in the south were cast for other Republican leaders, principally Wendell Willkie and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.



Delegate voting strength of the 13 southern states is 219.

81-Delegate Strength

The three states on the Pacific coast have a total of 81, the eight states in the mountain section a total of 73. The popular support of various Republican possible nominees will not, however, necessarily be reflected in the way the delegates from each area cast their final votes at the convention during next week.

Surveys in the four other principal sections of the country—New England, middle Atlantic, east central and west central—show Gov. Dewey first choice for the nomination among Republican voters there.

Duce Promised Workers

ROME, June 24—The Allied command announced that a captured diplomatic document showed that Benito Mussolini had agreed to send 1,500,000 Italian laborers to Germany in 1944.

ITALIAN PICTURE CHANGES LITTLE

Germans Continue To Make Firm Stand Along Center

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, June 24 — Fifth army tanks and infantry, advancing against strong resistance, today occupied Roccastrada on Highway 73 and cut a lateral road to the north, while another column closed in on Follonica, astride Highway 1 along the coastal route to Livorno and Pisa.

The Germans, who are making a firm stand against the Eighth army in central Italy, are continuing to offer strong resistance east and west of Lake Trasimeno and in general the situation in Italy is little changed, an Allied headquarters communique said.

Nazi Counter-Attacks Smashed

Hard fighting continued around Chiusi, nine miles southwest of Lake Trasimeno, which the enemy regained by infiltration. New German counter-attacks north of Perugia were repulsed.

On the Adriatic coast sector, Allied troops have reached the outskirts of San Elpedro. Earlier reports had placed other units of the Eighth army near the vicinity of Morrovalle and Montecosaro, less than 25 miles from the port of Ancona.

French colonials, fighting to the east of the Americans, have reached a point slightly north of the village of Castiglione D'Orcia, 17 miles west of Chiusi.

Poor Weather Curbs Raids

Poor weather caused cancellation of most medium bomber missions by the Mediterranean army air force yesterday, but in more than 1,500 sorties over a wide area Allied planes downed 31 enemy aircraft at a loss of 10 heavy bombers and eight other planes.

The enemy counter-attacked sharply in the area north of Roccastrada, losing tanks to American artillery fire.

Elements of the 42nd Jaeger division, which the Germans used in the occupation of Hungary and then returned to northern Italy, have been rushed to the west coast area of the front from Genoa and La Spezia.

MEIN KAMPF PLACED ON NAZI 'BLACK LIST'

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 24—H. R. Baukhage, Blue network commentator, said in a broadcast Friday that Mein Kampf, Hitler's autobiography and plan of conquest, is being suppressed in Germany and that Germans found reading it will be jailed.

He said he received the information through an unimpeachable European underground source.

Banning of the book, he said, does not mean the Nazi party is on its way out, but that "the Nazis have found it necessary to do everythinig possible to keep the populace quiet, to keep them from thinking too much about how they got where they are."

Admiral Gets Silver Star

WASHINGTON, June 24—Rear Adm. John J. Ballentine has received the Silver Star for skill and gallantry in fighting the Japanese at Rabaul and in the Gilbert islands. Ballentine was born in Hillsboro, O.

A Quick Glance At The World's News . . .

From Washington—

Worker Recruiting Plans Outlined

Conditions under which workers will be recruited for migration from one part of the country to another under the new "priority referral" program were outlined Friday by the war manpower commission.

When the plan to direct all male job seekers to essential industries goes into effect on a nationwide basis July 1, employers applying for additional workers through the United States employment service must satisfy the WMC they are making full utilization of present forces and that local supply has been exhausted.

They must show, also, that their war work is being impeded by a labor shortage and that their request for an additional force is in line with actual needs.

Farm Contractor Ceilings Set

Services of independent contractors on farms may be put under ceiling prices in cases where the war food administration has established maximum wage rates for farmers, the office of price administration said Friday.

Taken at WFA'S request, and effective next Wednesday the action covers contractor services performed in connection with planting, harvesting or preparation of agricultural commodities for market. Livestock and poultry services are included.

These services generally will be brought under price control only when WFA recommends the action to parallel establishment of maximum wage rates for farmers.

ODT Clears Rails For Casualties

The office of defense transportation has broadened the cancellation powers of the nation's railroads in a move designed to help the carriers in their plans for handling military casualties.

The new ODT action provides for cancellation of reservations, space for assignments or tickets and permits the railroad to require passengers to vacate space and accommodations when necessary to provide room for disabled military, naval and merchant marine personnel.

Farm Credit Agencies Face Probe

The house Friday, by voice vote, ordered an investigation of government farm credit agencies, with the view of coordinating their activities.

The work will be done by a house sub-committee on agriculture headed by Rep. Cooley (D) of North Carolina.

Around The Nation—

Popular Meat Cuts Scarce

CHICAGO—The American Meat Institute said Friday a nationwide survey has shown supplies of the most popular cuts of best grade meat are short in all parts of the country and attributed the condition to abnormal wartime demands.

Consumer cuts of grass-fed beef, veal and lamb generally were plentiful, the survey indicated, but top grades of beef, veal, lamb and pork loins, hams, spare ribs and tenderloins were not sufficient to fill the demand.

Kentucky Sets Service Vote

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky's absent servicemen and women can vote in primaries and general election for congressmen and president and vice president, the state court of appeals ruled Friday.

The opinion cited various reasons for believing the United States Constitution authorized Kentucky's general assembly to pass the 1944 enabling act to cooperate with the federal voting law.

Nazis Execute 7 Of Officers

NEW YORK—The office of war information said Friday that a captured document issued by the German high command showed seven officers in the German army have been executed for "breach of their oath of allegiance to the fuehrer by slandering, mocking and insulting his person," among other charges. OWI said the paper was captured in Italy.

Ferguson Hits Bricker Claim

COLUMBUS — Gov. John W. Bricker has been called on by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to retract his claim that he inherited a $40,000,000 state deficit, have the claim investigated by a non-partisan legislative committee or tender his resignation.

Ferguson said the constitutional bond limitation of the state is $750,000 and that if Bricker does not prosecute those responsible for the alleged deficit he would be violating his oath of office as governor.

Bricker has asserted the deficit was incurred under the administration of former Gov. Martin L. Davey—a charge Davey always has denied.

China To Survive, Wallace Says

CHUNGKING — Vice President Wallace Friday expressed confidence that China can survive "this very dark hour", an indirect reference to the situation in Hunan province, where the Japanese have captured Changsha and are driving swiftly southward.

He said he has had several discussions with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and will have more.

De Gaulle Changes Stand

Jap And German War Equipment Will Be On Exhibition For 2 Days

Arrangements for showing the "Parade to Victory" caravan in the Diamond Wednesday and Thursday were completed today with city officials by Mrs. Tremlette Tully Mundew, U. S. civil service representative from Cincinnati, and Clark S. Gross, of the war department at Dayton.

The show, which will be presented in four 40-foot trailers will include captured Japanese and German war equipment, besides equipment manufactured in Dayton for American fighters. It will open for public inspection from 2 to 10 p. m.
